BIG DIAMOND ROBBERY

Importer Robbed on Train of Gems Which Cost Him $76,899

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Krengel Brothers, diamond importers of New York and Chicago, reported to the police today they had been robbed on a train of diamonds which cost him $76,899 and which had a retail value of between $125,000 and $150,000.

The diamonds were in a wallet which he placed under his pillow in the Pullman, he said, and were insured for $50,000.

A futile search was made of the Pullman car.

MOONSHINE VICTIM MAY LOSE HANDS

As a result of too much moonshine, a man found on the streets last night in a terrible state of intoxication, faces the loss of the fingers of both hands.

When the man was brought to the station, it was discovered, on examination, that both of his hands were frozen. The city physician was called and treated his hands about 1 o'clock this morning, and returning at 4 o'clock and finding no improvement, ordered him sent to the state hospital at Towkshury. The doctor is not sure that any of his fingers can be saved, particularly those of the right hand, which were in an extremely bad condition. It is thought that the man's ankle was frozen as well, as he was unable to support himself upon it.

NEW PAVING FOR AIKEN STREET

City Engineer Stephen Kearney will recommend to the board of public service that the old brick pavement, in Aiken street between Moody and Ford streets, be replaced this year by granite block paving. The total yardage is approximately 2000 yards.

Investigation Engineer Kearney has found that this stretch of roadway is in very bad condition, so bad, in fact, that the foundation cannot be saved. The re-paving of this street also would necessitate work on the floor system of the canal bridge and changing the grade of the bridge and the approaches thereto on both ends.

This work was not included in the paving program for 1922 submitted to the board by Engineer Kearney.

HIGH COST OF KILLING HEDGEHOGS

MONTEFELIER, Vt., Feb. 18.—Hedgehogs at the rate of 35 cents a head are costing the state so much in bounty money that the legislature has been obliged to appropriate $5000 out of the contingent fund to meet the payments. The town of Underhill presented a bill for $3747, representing 10,706 hedgehogs killed during the eight months ending Feb. 1. The animals are charged with the destruction of too much timber.

WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Civil Service Rules Suspended for Five-Weeks Emergency Period

The civil service notified City Engineer Stephen Kearney by telephone today that the commissioner would authorize and approve an emergency period of five weeks for Lowell, during which time money included in the $30,000 appropriation voted by the city council for relief of the employment situation might be spent under the direction of the board of public service.

Suspension of the civil service rules was granted to the extent that the commissioner would authorize the emergency employment of a man for six days only out of the five weeks, but under no consideration would any one man be allowed to get more than six days' work during this period.

Following the receipt of this information, Engineer Kearney notified the members of the public service board and a meeting was arranged for and held at 12 o'clock in the mayor's reception room for the purpose of discussing the matter and agreeing upon the method of procedure.

The tentative plan involved is to have Cornelius P. Cronin submit names of men he has listed for work to the public service board through Supt. of Streets Harry Doherty, following a notification by the board to Mr. Cronin as to the number of emergency men that can be handled at one time.

City Department Estimates Cut Nearly Half Million By Budget and Audit Commission

TEXTILE WORKERS OUT ON STRIKE ARE STILL CONFIDENT

Official Strike Leader Says Today's Roll Call Best Yet—Instruction and Organization Meetings Next Week—Lowell Operatives Will Attend Haverhill Rally Tomorrow

Beginning next Monday, at 2 p. m., and continuing indefinitely, each afternoon and evening, local textile workers will hold open instruction and organization meetings and roll calls at Loomfixers hall headquarters for the purpose of further strengthening the ranks of the men and women opposing more energetically than ever wage reductions in textile plants.

The evening meetings will open at 8 o'clock. Different speakers each evening will be the rule, and there will be able speakers on textile work and wage matters each afternoon also. President John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council believes these meetings will help materially in preventing the workers' aim of the present labor wage difficulty. Every effort will be made to keep in touch with all the big mill centers of New England daily, and keep local workers informed of the situation in each city where mills are closed and workers out of employment.

Reports from the strike districts in Rhode Island and from northern points received by President Hanley this morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

COMMISSION FINISHES WORK

Practically Every Department is Materially Reduced—No Cut in Wages

More Than $100,000 is Lopped Off the School Department Total

Mayor Says 1922 Tax Rate Will Not Exceed Present Figure of $31.40

The budget and audit commission has reduced the estimates submitted by city departments for 1922 by $478,277.31, slashing right and left from items for equipment and supplies but leaving wages at the figures now prevailing. The commission's figures in recommendation form were submitted to Mayor Gen. H. Brown at noon today. Accompanying the figures was a statement to the mayor in letter form, which covered some of the department cuts. The commission did not allow the item of $52,500 for new fire department equipment and also boldly slashed the school department estimates more than $100,000.

When Mayor Brown saw the completed work of the commission, he said that there would be no increase in the tax rate this year, intimating that he would not increase the recommendations in total before presenting the budget to the city council for passage.

The mayor also said that he did not favor any increase in property valuations this year and felt sure that the present tax rate of $31.40 would not be exceeded. "In fact," said the mayor, "I feel sure that we can shave a little from the present rate and this we will make every effort to do."

The total amount of money asked for this year by all city departments, exclusive of the water department, was $478,277.31, and if allowed, this would mean an increase of several dollars in the tax rate, the members of the budget commission say. They also state that last year's tax rate for all Massachusetts cities.

"Believing that any increase in the tax rate would be detrimental to the present and future of the city and a hardship to all its citizens, we have reduced the estimates submitted by the sum of $478,277.31," the statement says. The recommendations of the commission total $4,303,915.35, against expenditures last year of $4,241,401.70, or an increase of hardly more than $62,500.

The commission recommends that some different arrangement be made for caring for the horses of the department of public buildings, as the cost, in wages alone, for 1921 was $5319 for six horses.

The letter in full follows: Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: In accordance with the terms of the charter we herewith present our estimate of— even if— for the city of Lowell during the present year.

The total amount asked for, exclusive of the water department, was $478,277.31, and if allowed, this would mean an increase of several dollars in the tax rate. The rate for last year ($31.40) was $2.21 above the average for all the cities of Massachusetts.

Adventures of the Twins

"MIST LAND"

THERE WAS A NICE LITTLE TRAIN OF CARS TO MEET THEM

The next place to which Buskins took the twins was called Mist Land. It was another part of the Kingdom of Up-in-the-Air.

When the magic apple tree elevator stopped and they all got out, there was a nice little train of cars to meet them and a jolly engineer looking out of the window.

Buskins introduced them. "Nancy and Nick, this is Scootalong, the steam fairy. Scootalong, these are the twins and we're on adventure. I'm glad you are here to meet us."

Scootalong touched his cap and said that he was much obliged to meet them, and that he'd been looking for them ever since he'd received Buskins' telegram that they were coming.

Buskins explained to the twins that the reason all steam went straight up to the sky was because it was really a million fairies going to Scootalong for orders. He was chief of them all. "No one knows how important a person he is," went on Buskins, "for the 519 express down on the earth all depends on him and his fairies for being on time. He tells the steam fairies just how to push the wheels of the engine around when the engineer opens the throttle, and how to blow the whistle at the crossings, and how to stop the train at important places, and everything. Yes, Mr. Scootalong is a very important person."

Mr. Scootalong bowed and touched his cap again and repeated that he was much obliged for the compliment. "Won't you hop in now, young friends?" he asked. "I'll take you around and show you things. We're all busy up here in Mist Land from the teakettle fairies to the fog fairies. Mr. Sprinkle-Blow doesn't make all the weather."

Nancy and Nick thanked him and followed Buskins into one of the funny little cars.

Mrs. Caruso Interested in Spiritualism

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the Metropolitan Opera star, today announced that she was interested in spiritualism, and had enrolled in a small group of society and stage people who have attended seances in the last few weeks. "At the first meeting I attended the medium hadn't the least idea who I was," she declared, "and he said, 'I see somebody asleep, and there is a chapel and a priest and a nun. I also see a cross. Don't worry.' Mrs. Caruso interpreted this to mean the chapel where her husband rests in Naples. It is being cared for by members of a religious order, and the cross is the small cross of her rosary which she had placed upon her husband's body. 'I am not seeking any message from the dead,' she explained, "but I have become tremendously interested in the subject in purely an impersonal manner."

A huge attendance of old-time dancers, many of whom have not attended dances since the coming of jazz, thoroughly enjoyed the evening's program. During the evening such dances as the following were featured: redowa, waltz Oxford, Newport, galep, duchess, jancers, Virginia and Lady Washington's reels, Portland fency, tennep, and a number of quadrilles, with Mr. Hibbard calling off the figures.

Conditions in Pawtuxet Valley—Merchants Offer Concessions to Strikers

ARCTIC, R. I., Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—A sign that greets all comers as the trolley car flies down into the little village of Arctic says: "You are now in the Pawtuxet valley. Tax exemptions for new industries. Pawtuxet Valley board of trade." But the cluster of mill villages that extends some 11 miles along the river valley isn't thinking about new industries now. It is wondering what is going to happen to the old ones. Today marks the end of the fourth week of the strike that has closed the textile mills in the valley because the operators refused to accept a 20 per cent wage cut and an increase in working hours.

There are other signs in the villages now. One in the village of 2, a barber shop reads: "Strikers save 10 cents. Hair cut 20 cents." Another on the front of a clothing store says that "on account of the strike" the markdown sale which was to have ended Feb. 11, has been extended to March 1. And on a doorway in Arctic Center yesterday was a sign reading: "Mass meeting tonight."

The doorway opens on a staircase at the top of which another door leads into a big hall, bare save for two long board tables and a few chairs. This is strike headquarters for the Pawtuxet valley. There are no guards on the doors. Men, women and children enter and leave at will. Smoking is permitted. Yesterday afternoon, a goodly group of men sat or stood about the hall, chatting quietly and appearing to be in good spirits. Inquiry for the strike leader, William H. Derrick, developed that he had stepped out to "buy some collars." Presently he returned, collars in hand.

Nothing to Arbitrate

Derrick is an organizer for the Amalgamated Textile Workers. He is affable but earnest. He declared the strikers had nothing to arbitrate, but he hopes the mill owners can be persuaded to the view that the operatives cannot afford to accept the new conditions.

He explained that the Amalgamated wanted to bring about here the system already in operation in certain industries in other places. This system provides for joint committees of employers and workers to talk over disputed points as to wages and working conditions, with an impartial chairman to have the deciding vote. This chairman is on salary which is paid jointly by the employer and the union, and is empowered to examine into costs of manufacturing and living costs.

14 Meals a Week

Derrick said the Amalgamated was well provided with funds and was making the strikers as comfortable as possible. A restaurant has been opened where food is provided free to unmarried men. They are given tickets for 14 meals a week. "We figure," said Derrick, "that able-bodied men can get along on that. Preparations are being made for the opening of additional restaurants in other parts of the valley. In addition, credit slips are given the strikers which they can exchange for needed supplies at the stores and the merchants. Cash these slips at strike headquarters daily."

Concessions to Strikers

Aside from the occasional sign and the eloquent silence of the machinery in the mills, there is little outward appearance of a strike. Pickets visit the mills daily in small numbers, as Derrick explained, to keep them in practice should he consider a more active picketing necessary later. He asserted that many of the merchants were giving concessions to the strikers and that one doctor had offered to treat free any cases of illness in strikers' families.

As the storekeeper admitted yesterday that there had been a considerable shaking of trade, but he expressed himself as optimistic of an early settlement. The trolley cars between the valley and Providence are well patronized.

Today Derrick was ready to go to Providence to outline the case for the strikers before a special state board of mediation and conciliation.

COLD WAVE BROKEN

Generally Fair Weather Predicted by Weather Bureau Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The cold wave which for two days has been holding the East in its grip was giving way today to higher temperatures. The bureau said the outlook was for generally fair weather, but with much cloudiness tonight and Sunday in the states east of the Mississippi river. Higher temperatures were forecast for tonight.

EXPECT TO PASS BONUS BILL BEFORE MARCH 4

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—With 10 days announced by Chairman Fordney as the time within which their draft of the measure would be completed, republican members of the house ways and means committee continued at work on the soldiers' bonus bill today.

There appeared to be a growing determination among republicans to put the measure through regardless of what might happen to it in the senate. Leaders said if the bill was in shape for consideration by a republican caucus within the time set by Mr. Fordney, it would be passed before March 4.

It was stated at the White House yesterday that if the plan is adopted President Harding would view with favor a tax on production rather than on general retail sales. The executive was said to consider the former as the simplest form, especially since it would avoid the problem of exemptions likely to arise under a general retail tax.

Textile Workers Confident

confirm the statement made by Mr. Hanley and several textile union organizers to The Sun yesterday that the strike has thus far been conducted peacefully everywhere, and that only harmonious relations exist between workers and employers.

"This was to have been expected, of course," said Mr. Hanley. "There have been no signs of trouble of any kind since the mill workers struck in protest against lower wages. No trouble is expected and none is wanted. Lowell mill workers, as we know, are peaceful, industrious and home-loving. And they are fighting this battle for their homes, for home comforts, for their families and their future well-being when they decide to work for wages that are lowered so radically at a time when the prices of the world's goods cost so much. The workers are confident today."

"Next week we shall have a series of meetings, sure to be largely attended day and evening, from reports have had today. We are making an earnest struggle in Lowell without outside help of any kind, and hope to have our demands for decent living wages complied with."

None of the textile workers so far interviewed has any idea of giving up this struggle. "The principle is worth fighting for, and we believe that the peaceful measures that Lowell textile workers are using are the only effective vital campaigns of this kind will prevail," is the general sentiment.

Next Week's Meetings

President Hanley's plans for next week's two-day meetings in Lowell were outlined this morning in detail. At least two prominent speakers will be present each day. There will be local as well as outside millmen, and men from cities interested in industrial affairs. Some of these men will not necessarily belong to textile unions, but will have the welfare of the union men at heart, and each will have something important to say.

It is President Hanley's intention to call upon several well known clergymen to attend one or two of the week's rallies in the labor hall. The president was supplied with the names of three clergymen this afternoon, each of whom will respond promptly when called upon, it is said. There is no intention, Mr. Hanley said, of enlarging upon the strike or featuring the side of it that affects the workingman's home life and pocket-books have been preparing for just charitable work at this time, as the workers have been preparing for just such an eventuality as this and are equipped in many cases, it is said, to struggle along for some time to come, believing that the wage matter will soon be adjusted in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

Plan Monster Rally

Local textile workers on strike received cheering news this afternoon when announcement was made from headquarters in Trades and Labor hall that on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26, at 2 o'clock, in Crescent rink, on Hurd street, a monster rally of the strikers and all loyal supporters in the mill wage controversy would be held. It had been planned for some time to have a rally of large proportions, but International President Thomas P. McMahon of the United Textile Workers of America, who is to be the principal speaker, Feb. 26, was unable to come until the date now agreed upon.

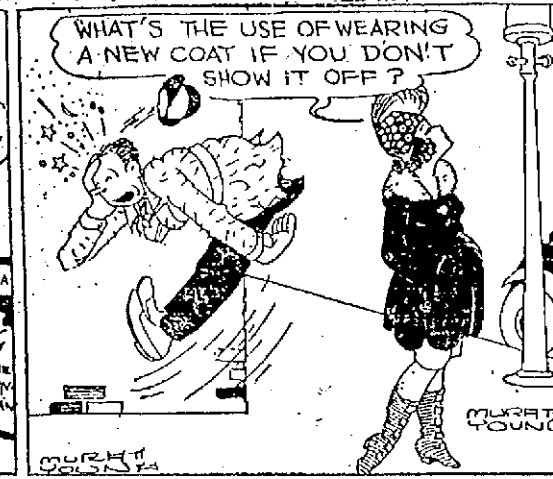

A telegram to President John Hanley, received by the latter this afternoon, Mr. McMahon states that he is glad to come to Lowell and meet textile workers with a reputation unequalled anywhere in the country for unity of organization and supporters of law and order. Several other international officers and local officials will also be present. Arrangements will be made to entertain visiting textile workers from nearby cities and towns.

Rally Sunday

Lowell textile workers will be largely represented at the rally of the textile council workers in Lawrence, tomorrow afternoon. President Hanley and officials of the nine locals will attend. This new organization, known as the union council of the United Textile Workers of New England, will meet at 184 Broadway, Lawrence, at 1:30 sharp. Representatives of textile unions will be there from Manchester, N. H., Lawrence, Lowell and Maynard.

The Lowell delegates will depart in autos and also go to Lawrence on the electric, leaving this city around 12 o'clock noon.

President Hanley today stated that reports will be received at this meeting Sunday from all centers of New England where mills are closed and strikes on. It is expected that official reports will come in from representatives of at least 35,000 and possibly 40,000 mill workers.

An important report is also coming from Rhode Island, where the Textile Council has not yet had many meetings for campaign purposes, but which is to come in under the present organization plan when the four cities above mentioned are properly organized. All reports in Sunday will be "first hand" reports, giving the exact situation in each district, Mr. Hanley said today.

While in Lawrence, the Lowell delegates will be cordially entertained by mill workers in hotels and homes. The rally is expected to be one of the most important held since the shutdowns and strikes stirred the textile operators all over the New England district.

At Sunday's meeting, officers for the new council are to be elected. Until this time, the organization has been working under a temporary board of officers, which will now be made permanent after official balloting tomorrow. Lowell, it is whispered today, will be ably represented on the official board.

Today's Meeting

Today's unscheduled meeting at 10 a. m. in Loom Flaxers' hall, was well attended by textile workers, most of whom remained until noon. This afternoon reports were to come in from the various local organizations, and all will be tabulated.

President Hanley stated that today's roll-call was the best yet, and all reports from councils figuring in the strike, were most encouraging. "We are well satisfied with the situation, that in about all we can say now," said Mr. Hanley. "I don't see any discouraging feature about the strike so far as it affects the textile workers. We are conducting ourselves just as our loyal friends knew and said we would. We are confident of success."

There was no indication this morning that the strikers and the mill agents would get together for a conference over the wage situation, although reports on Friday made it appear that something would happen around the week-end. The textile workers now out, have not communicated with the mill people and have heard nothing from the latter in connection with the wage controversy.

HOOVER OFFERED

$50,000 SALARY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—An offer of $50,000 a year for five years to Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, to become director of the proposed aqueduct project in Philadelphia in 1925 has been made by Edward Bok, it was announced yesterday by Mayor J. Hampton Moore. The mayor said Mr. Bok, who now is in Florida, had written him to this effect, and that the matter would be placed before the centennial committee, with Mr. Hoover's answer.

There are about 11,000 people in Ireland who understand only Irish.

resignation as federal judge to Washington, effective March 1."

The judge then called the first case on his docket and refused to discuss the matter until court recess.

Judge Landis will have virtually completed 17 years as judge for the northern district of Illinois when his resignation becomes effective.

Rumors of the resignation have been current for months, and intimate friends have known for some time that the action was imminent. It has been generally understood that Judge Landis would have resigned some time ago but for the attacks on him by Senator Dial of South Carolina and the notoriety brought through his handling of the case of Willie Dutton, 17-year-old bank robber. On the verge of resignation when these things came up, the judge changed his plans, informing friends that he would never resign under fire.

Senator Dial had attacked the judge because of the latter's statement that bank officials sometimes were partly responsible for robberies by boys whom they did not make adequate salaries. Senator Dial and Representative Welby of Ohio later proposed impeachment proceedings against the judge, the representative basing his case on the holding of two positions by the judge. Both cases were dropped.

The judge became head of organized baseball shortly after the grand jury investigation into the 1919 world series scandal.

Although 55 years old, Judge Landis has always been known as a boy at heart and a lover of all forms of sport. The baseball magnates urged him to resignize baseball "for the sake of the American boy" and it was this plea which won.

His unique conduct in court, where he frequently took the cases out of the lawyers' hands and examined witnesses himself, caused him to be feared by all lawbreakers. At the same time, his reputation for administering justice brought him universal respect.

He was vigorous in his attitude against anti-Americanism during the war. In every war case brought before him where the defendant was found guilty, the judge imposed drastic sentences, and anxiously denounced anyone who was anti-American. Judge Landis was one of the 30 persons to whom bonds were mailed on May day, in 1918, and during the 1921 black ban trials here, he received many death threats. He insisted on sitting through the trials.

Judge Landis first became nationally famous when he fined the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana $5,000,000, which decision later was reversed by a higher court. In the court room the judge always was a picturesque figure, not only because of his flowing white hair but because of his keen wit. He once barred "wrist watched lawyers" and was drastic in his action against the court room inferno or "four-room lizard," as he called them.

Heydler Gratified

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—President John A. Heydler of the National League expressed gratification today when informed that Judge Landis had resigned from the bench to devote his entire time to the technical control of professional baseball.

"The major and minor leagues and the baseball public at large are to be congratulated," he said. "It means everything for the sport."

"I have always felt that when Judge Landis retired he would be able to devote his time to the study of the law and the varying technical and contractual matters which must come to him for final decision, he would have to decide to give up either the position of baseball commissioner or the federal bench. The work incidental to both positions is absolutely beyond the powers of any one man. Of course, I need not say that I am extremely gratified that Judge Landis saw his way clear to devote his entire attention to baseball."

"Under the terms of his contract, signed in 1920, Judge Landis will continue to receive the same remuneration as in the past. His contract, signed for a period of seven years, called for an annual salary of $50,000, with a deduction equivalent to his salary as a judge."

Under this agreement Judge Landis has been receiving approximately $42,500 from the baseball leagues.

Commission Finishes Work

$5 against expenditures last year of $1,241,401.70.

The tendency in national, state and city government, this year is toward a decrease in the budgets but this is impossible in Lowell owing to an increase in the debt and interest charges of $171,266.38 and larger payrolls in the school, fire, police and some of the smaller departments.

The fire department asked for $52,500 for new equipment which we could not allow owing to the fact that the amount requested for this department was more than double the money expended four years ago.

The large reduction in the estimates of the prohibition board was mainly because this department, instead of returning a balance to the general treasury at the end of last year, expended several thousand dollars for supplies in December.

We recommend that different arrangements be made for caring for the horses of the building department as the cost, in wages alone, is $5310 for six horses.

We have reduced the estimates of the school department over $300,000, but call attention to the fact that the amount allowed is $212,575 more than the cost of this department in 1917.

We recommend that the appropriation for the water department be $350,035.75 from its revenue and that the additional amount of $17,519 "by ordinance" be not allowed.

We believe that owing to the lower cost of supplies and increased efficiency in management under the new charter, that each department can operate within the appropriation allowed and we trust that they will strive to do so, knowing as they must, that the cry of the majority of our citizens for a more economical administration of the city's affairs.

Respectfully,
TYLOR A. STEVENS,
JOSEPH K. BENTON,
ALBERT BERGSON.
The Budget and Auditing Commission.
The mayor said today that he did not care to give out any detailed statement of the reductions made by the commission in the different departments, inasmuch as he had not had any opportunity to go over the figures. He thought he would finish his work on the budget some time next week and then it would be ready for presentation to the council.

The council does not meet again in regular session until Thursday night, March 2, but in all probability a special meeting will be called for consideration of the budget.

HANGS WATCH ON POST, SLEEPS IN SNOWDRIFT

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—John Bannon, white-haired actor, has a watch on which the hands and figures stand out clearly even in the darkness, but it's a 100 to 1 shot that the next time he hangs his glowing timepiece on a gatepost preparatory to going to bed in a snow drift, he will turn its face to the post.

Failure to take this little precaution led him into magistrate's court yesterday on a charge of intoxication.

The glowing timepiece attracted Patrolman Gardner's attention as he was pacing through the zero weather in West 47th street yesterday morning. Investigating, he found Bannon hat on the curb and a pair of aristocratic shoes not neatly side by side near the gate. Then he found Bannon asleep in the snow, pillowing his head on a muffler and covered with his overcoat.

Bannon pleaded guilty, still protesting, however, against having his slumber disturbed. He drew a suspended sentence.

PRESS AGENT FOR CITY OF BOSTON

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—The city of Boston is to have a press agent. Mayor Curley announced yesterday the appointment of William H. Mc Masters as publicity agent for Boston commerce. Mc Masters, whose salary will be $5000 a year, is to undertake a "ship from a New England port campaign."

$4400 LIES IN MAIN STREET FOR 3 HOURS

DANBURY, Conn., Feb. 18.—A package containing $4400 in bills lay in the snow on Main street undisturbed for about three hours yesterday afternoon. It had fallen from an automobile which had carried two employees of Daniels & Thompson, Inc., hat manufacturers from a bank to the factory with the company's payroll.

The concern notified the police that the money had disappeared on the trip and that the employees were

EXPECT TO AVOID CLASH ON ULSTER BORDER

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The joint liaison commission may begin to function over the week-end, it is unofficially stated, thus giving a fair prospect for prevention of the dreaded clash between the rival forces lined up along the southern Ulster border.

Peace seems for the moment again assured over northern Ireland, the release of the remaining kidnapped Unionists announced yesterday, easing the tension. Nevertheless, both sides still hold prisoners, and it is understood the south is determined not to release the special constables captured at Clones until the Monaghan football players are freed by the Ulster authorities. Resumption of the British evacuation has not been officially declared, but a number of troops left Dublin yesterday, others left Limerick and some are at Cork stations ready for embarkation.

Thrilling Rescue of 14 Trapped by Fire

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Police and firemen early today made thrilling rescues of 14 persons trapped by a fire in a three-story house in the Cypress Hills section of Brooklyn. Three women were dropped 15 feet from second story windows in the arms of patrolmen. Seven members of one family and a collie dog were carried down ladders. The others were carried through smoke-filled hallways to the street. Three men jumped from windows and were slightly injured.

Reorganization of Prohibition Forces

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Reorganization of the national prohibition field forces is expected to be completed soon with a total of 66 federal prohibition directors, Commissioner Haynes announced today. The commissioner said a director would be appointed for the Canal Zone rounding out the total.

Feel Stiff and Achy After Every Cold?

Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you worn-out and utterly miserable? Do you feel old and lame, stiff and rheumatic? Does your back ache with a dull, unceasing throb, until it seems you just can't stand it any longer?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. They fill the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys must filter off. The kidneys weakened under this rush of new work become congested and inflamed. It's little wonder, then, that every cold leaves you with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

But don't worry! Simply realize that your kidneys are overworked at such times and need assistance. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Assist them, also, by drinking pure water freely, eating lightly and getting plenty of fresh air and rest. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"A cold settled on my kidneys and caused lame back when I stooped to shovel, and a knife-like pain caught me in the small of my back and had me nearly crippled. My kidneys acted too often, and I had to get up as many as six times during the night. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Burkishaw's Drug Store. After using several boxes of Doan's I was cured of the trouble."

MRS. W. STREED

"I was laid up with kidney disorder caused by a cold. I could hardly straighten when I stooped, due to the terrible pain in the small of my back. I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. I was so lame and my kidneys acted unnatural. I suffered from terrible pain in the top of my head and it seemed as though the top of my head was coming off. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them and they soon helped me. I continued until Doan's cured me of all symptoms of kidney trouble."

BIG PICTURE DIRECTOR

Former Lowell Boy Directs Productions and Also Writes the Scenarios

How many of the movie fans in this city know that Lowell has produced a real motion picture director, one who not only directs productions but writes the scenarios himself? Yet it is true, and what is described as "The biggest and best dramatic picture success of the year," "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" given by the premiere at the "Edison Theatre," New York City, early this month, was written and directed by this Lowell boy—James Patrick Hogan.

Born in this city a little more than 20 years ago, receiving his early training at St. Patrick's academy for boys, Mr. Hogan entered the picture business in New York about seven years ago. Since that time he has risen in the profession until he has become a director of prominence in the California field of the industry, and is reported to have at one time directed some of Douglas Fairbanks' features. He is the youngest director in the business.

Mr. Hogan plans to visit his home in Lowell in the near future, after he has completed four special pictures with which he is now engaged. He will visit this city to make his home with his aunt, Mrs. Dennis J. Hogan, of 27 Windsor street, with whom he resides, before leaving for larger fields, since early childhood, Mr. Hogan's sister, Miss Mary J. Hogan, also resides with Mrs. Hogan, and a brother, William J. Hogan, lives at 22 Pine street. Relative to Mr. Hogan's new production, "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight," it is said he conceived the idea for the story when he was a boy, in this city. His father took him to a meeting of a local temperance society, where someone rendered the song with illustrated slides, depicting thought of his home-town, where he first conceived the idea, foremost in his mind.

No doubt all his former chums and associates will be glad to know of his success, and will be waiting to greet him on his impending visit.

the song's meaning. A few years later, while working for a Mr. Whitcomb, a milk dealer, on Vermont avenue, he attended church with others of all denominations at a little mission chapel, and, on Christmas eve, again heard the song, and its pathetic melody made a deep impression on his mind, urging him to reproduce that story at some future time on the animated screen. He has come to the realization of his ambition with the

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Conroy & Yates, and Arnaut Bros. Will Divide Honors on Next Week's Bill—Sunday Programs

Sunday's show at the R. F. Keith Theatre will be right up to the mark of productions on previous Sundays, with some of the very best turns of the current week's bill, supplemented by other acts imported from New York. Among the top features are the Quixey Four, Frank Davis and Adele Darnell, Doris Duncan and George Yeaman and Lizzie.

The new acts for Sunday are the Melody Duo, Wright & Connaughton, and the Bonney Trio.

On Wednesday Washington's Birthday show will be given, beginning respectively at 2, 5 and 8 p. m.

Another week of a double headline show will open on Monday, next, at the R. F. Keith Theatre, when the Conroy & Yates, and the Arnaut Brothers will divide the honors.

It ought to be a great show, looked at from every angle, for in these two acts are as snappy, novel, unusual headlines as can be procured.

Conroy & Yates have only recently hung out their shingle as partners, although for a number of years they were attached to other laugh-salutes who were of the first calibre. They are now frankly manufacturers of high-class, and they call their turn "Fell Her Thru."

Both the common and garden variety of fun are introduced into this skit, and everywhere will be heard the sound of a double entendre. The Arnaut Brothers are inimitable. That's a fact. They are clowns whose knowledge of the nearly wonderful, formerly of the big troupe at the New York Hippodrome, where they shone resplendently, they were eagerly sought by vaudeville managers and castles, although in a performance of a dozen other illusions, with fun attachment. A unique comedy offering is that of Stephen & Bordaux. The act is one of bright, clean, and a laughing comedy. The Chandon Trio are aerobats, who are quite in a line by themselves, while Sam Green and Mildred Myra, "Merry Moments," then there is a delightful Frances Dougherty, the girl with the Irish smile. It's a rattling good show.

RIALTO THEATRE

Mack Sennett's Famous Production, "Molly O" at the Rialto Theatre All Next Week

"Molly O," Mack Sennett's famous production, coming to the Rialto Theatre all next week and guess who is in the leading role—Mabel Normand.

It is a production that contains no less than four sensational and thrilling scenes, enough for the climax of an unsuit production, and through it all runs a love story as sweet and winsome as anything that has ever been done for the screen. On the same program for the three first days of the week is Charlie Chaplin's latest, "A Dog's Life," and a delightful Frances Dougherty, the girl with the Irish smile. It's a rattling good show.

before going home, and while there she is attacked by her father's helper. The doctor comes to her rescue and the pair are discovered by the late father, who discovers that they have been married to each other the night before.

Now, don't imagine that this is the end of the story. It is only the beginning of their troubles, and it is not until you see the rest of the masterpiece you must see Mabel herself at the Rialto. Get your seats early in the week.

In "A Dog's Life" Charlie Chaplin has mounted a new pedestal of fame. It is a three-reel super feature and is booked as the greatest comedy in modern times. Don't fail to see it in its booked for only three days.

The Sunday show at the Rialto will have Billie Burke, new Mrs. Florence Zeigfeld, and the Melody Duo, and four acts of high class vaudeville.

For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Manager Nelson has arranged a special feature, Elaine Hammerstein in "Why Announce Your Marriage?"

Elaine Hammerstein, a young actress of one of America's most noted women writers, is one of the most interesting stories in which various famous Hammerstein, has yet appeared. The central character is a very modern young woman, a successful artist, who objects to marrying the man she loves because she sees no unsuccessful marriages all about her. She decided that the reason so many married couples are unhappy is that they are too much of one another. So she agrees to marry the young man who has been beseeching her for some time, although in a dramatic scene when a marriage secret, each maintaining a separate establishment.

On this basis, they marry. Then the complications begin. The husband is visiting his wife at her apartment at an hour that is not strictly in accord with the best conventions and is caught in a dramatic scene when a crowd of merry-makers force their way in to take the wife out on a party.

OPERA HOUSE
Marguerite Fields and Her Own Company's Presentation For Next Week in "The County Fair"

The holiday attraction at the Opera House for the coming week by Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company will be a revival of Neil Burgess' famous rural comedy drama, "The County Fair."

The County Fair is so well known by the players of this vicinity that little need be said of the story or its worth as a stage offering. The striking success of the County Fair has been an unquestionable box office success for all who will flock to the Opera House during the coming week.

coming week. Harry Carey in "The Fox," a Universal super-special is the picture and those who are best able to judge proclaim it a truly superior photoplay. Alice Lake in "The Infamous Miss Revell" will be the other picture for the last part of the week. During the last three days of the week will be seen House Peters in "The Man from Lost River" and Gladys Walton in "Playing With Fire."

Something quite out of the ordinary is scheduled for the Sunday concert. The Boston Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of conductor Serge Koussevitzky, will give a concert of late and is sure to be a big feature. The picture attraction will be "Tom Moore in 'Hold Your Horses.'"

Nothing better in the line of Sunday concert has been given at any local theatre in months. Don't miss it.

What is promised as the greatest western photodrama ever made has been produced by Universal with Harry Carey in the starring role. Believing in the widespread appeal of the western, Universal decided to make a super-western picture and called it "The Fox." BOBBED HAIR HAT

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—For the girl with bobbed hair, the designer has found the close cropped head of the model.

The chic little chapeau of navy blue hannelock cloth is made with a smaller head size and a low hanging ornament with the girl of the short locks particularly in mind. Short hair has had a very noticeable effect on millinery—say the designers. It has tended to make head sizes smaller and bring ornaments lower.

The pom-pom on this clever little hat is interesting in that it does something quite new and different from the numerous ends of its saucy quills a small bulb of geodling wax. The sealing wax on this particular hat is white.

Jane Novak—She's Film Land's "Old-Fashioned Girl"

JANE NOVAK

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—I have just received the news that Jane Novak's new salary is $1500 a week.

That is one of the most incalculable things about Jane Novak. I believe the best story that could be published about Jane Novak is that the breath of scandal has never touched her.

Hollywood and the entire movie industry at this moment needs more stories like the true one of Jane Novak and less of the cook-and-bull stories about star salaries.

In the past year I have talked to several hundred movie actors, actresses, directors and publicity men. Many of them have lived in Hollywood and a few of them have been scandal mongers.

And when the gossips have told me this about that star and that about this star, I have usually asked, "Who in thunder among the movie people is all right?" And in the brief lists in the answers Jane Novak's name has always been mentioned.

Jane Novak entered the movie industry eight years ago, after having played in a stage stock company with her uncle in St. Louis. She was 17 then.

She could have had sensational roles but refused them. Stardom was sacrificed for roles as leading woman in more wholesome pictures.

Other girls who entered pictures after Jane Novak were skyrocketed to stardom and fame—and many are almost forgotten. Stardom was not won by merit of their work.

Known as "the old-fashioned girl," Miss Novak played opposite Bill Hart, House Peters, Charles Ray, Hobart Bosworth, Tom Moore and Lewis Stone.

Most of her films have been based on outdoor stories—"Kazan," "Jabob," "The River's End." Her most recent release is "The Rosary."

Today she has her own company and a contract for five outdoor pictures. "The Belle of Alaska" and "The Starvation" have been completed. She is now filming "The Snowshoe Trail," by Gilson Marshall and adapted by Marion Fairfax.

Sturs and Star Salaries

Most of the stories published about star salaries are true insofar as the amount of salary is concerned—but that doesn't mean anything.

Ask the internal revenue collector of your district how much difference in income a $50,000 increase in salary means to a person getting a salary of six figures. The government gets the greater part of it in income tax.

One reason you are paying high admission prices to the movies is that the producers had a few fat years in which they made so much money they didn't know what to do with it.

Rather than give it to the government as excess-profits tax they paid it out in "million-dollar" salaries.

The ones who received it paid income tax on it. The government didn't lose anything, but the movie people obtained advertising by this means.

The movie producers in their new wealth acted like other new-rich. They wore their dinner rags to breakfast.

Now they would like to reduce admission prices to fill up empty theatres.

They can't do it because of stars' contracts.

The exhibitor pays as much for the rental of films as he used to pay. He can't very well afford to reduce admission prices.

A Few Figures

The gross income of movie distributors in 1921 was $118,054,636. That was an increase of $11,000,000 over 1920.

Admission tax, for stage and screen theatres, amounted to $20,623,093 in 1921, a decrease of more than $1,000,000.

MARY PICKFORD WRITES ABOUT NEWEST STYLES

When Mary Pickford returned to the United States from Europe, several weeks ago, she brought with her several trunk loads of the latest and most fashionable clothing.

They came direct from one of the main fashion setting centres of the world—Paris—and were made by the name Jeanne Lanvin, the most celebrated designer of youthful frocks in the world. Mary collaborated with Madame Lanvin in designing the dresses.

Now she is going to tell you about the latest styles, in six stories. She has posed in six of her prettiest garments to illustrate her articles.

This is the first "Mary Pickford's Styles for Girls" article.

BY MARY PICKFORD

The distinction of this Lanvin frock of black chignon velvet lies in the exquisite eyelid embroidered collar and cuffs of corn braid.

Narrow red grosgrain ribbon ties in a bow at the neck and hangs with long ends while the bows are repeated at the cuffs. The red is further carried out in an embroidered motif on the front of the waist and in a vivid hat of red leather.

Saul A. Lopez, 23, 5 Chapel place, shoemaker and Isabel R. Souza, 23, 5 Chapel place, weaver.

WHITE SPOTS

White spots on furniture, clothing or linoleum can be removed by an application of camphor.

LACE

Lace, if it is to look its loveliest, should not be starched. Pressing while it is damp makes it about right. If stiffening is needed, a small quantity of gum arabic is all that is necessary.

COATS

Sport coats for summer wear are built on straight lines. Many of the smartest of them have a single button to fasten them at the throat and are unbelted.

SKIRTS

The skirts of silk frocks which are being shown for mid-summer wear are surprisingly full and some of them reach quite to the ankles. Puffings and flutings of all kinds are being used to exaggerate the effect of width.

FROCKS FOR MID-SUMMER WEAR

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—There is an air of quietness about the frocks which are being shown for mid-summer wear. A trifle longer and a bit more full as to skirt with snug little bodices, they hark back to the period of smart waist, hips and the like.

The lattice trimming which one finds on some of the newest gowns tends to heighten the effect of mid-fashional daintiness.

This Claire gown combines black cotton crepe with soft mauve chiffon touched with bits of silver ribbon.

The mauve chiffon, which is visible below the lattice sculpturing at the hem line of the skirt, is a complete netting fastened to the dress at the belt.

The petticoat in its most modern tension is a slim sheath of soft material which is really a part of the gown—being fastened with the skirt at the waist line.

The last worn with this frock, also a Claire model, is of lavender tulle heavily stashed with lavender taffeta.

POTATO DISHES

Sister Mary Suggests Ways to Prepare Them

A potato dish that is particularly good with pork chops for dinner is made according to this rule for stewed potatoes. These potatoes are very quickly prepared.

STEWED POTATOES

One and one-half teaspoons lard, 1/4 teaspoon butter, 2 teaspoons flour, 1 medium sized onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 cups sliced potatoes, boiling water, parley.

Put lard and butter in kettle. When melted stir in flour. Add onion cut in thin slices. Then add the sliced potatoes and just enough boiling water to prevent burning.

Do not add enough water to cover potatoes. Cover closely and cook 20 minutes. The water should be nearly all cooked away and the potatoes tender.

Another way to prepare potatoes that is rather unusual and very good is to make potato croquettes. The potatoes should be boiled with the skins on. This preserves the mineral salts which lie so close under the skin.

POTATO CROQUETTES

Four or 5 medium sized potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, milk, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, egg, bread crumbs.

Put potatoes on to boil in cold water. Boil 15 to 20 minutes. Drain and shake over fire till perfectly dry.

Peel. Put through a ricer or mash with wire masher, season with salt, pepper and butter. Beat in milk and parley.

Use just enough milk to make moist enough to handle. Let cool slightly. Make in small balls, roll in crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons milk, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat to a golden brown.

Drain and serve. As the mixture is cooked, the frying fat should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 40 seconds.

Potato ribbons are very good with fish.

POTATO RIBBONS

Peel potatoes, let stand in ice water for half an hour. Dry between towels and cut a thick paring round and round the potato. Cut this in six-inch lengths and tie in a loose knot.

Drop in deep hot fat and fry a golden brown. Drain, sprinkle with salt and serve.

LOVE ON MONKEY

Miss Eleanor Berlin, 21, Worcester, Mass., will receive $50,000 if she remains single and lives with the mother of Charles A. Hamilton, Chicago, her sweetheart. That, in accordance with the will of Hamilton who asked her to accept the legacy on his death-bed.

THIS MAY BE HER LAST TIME IN PRINT

The above picture is of Mrs. L. M. Fine of Chicago.

Ever see it before? Whether you did or not, take a good look now—for this is the last time it's to be printed—maybe!

At least Mrs. Fine's husband hopes so.

Why? Well, just because—When Mrs. Fine was little she was pretty. As she grew she became beautiful. Photographers delighted in snapping her and her face soon became familiar in many ads.

Then she was married. Her husband found her staring him in the face from calendars, soap wrappers, street car ads and bill-boards.

Now he's proved. "Never want to see it again," he declares. "Tell the world I never got a dime out of it. I support my own wife."

So glanced at the "old girl" before she ceases to appear.

SLICING CAKE

Slice the fresh loaf cake from the middle first and then push the two pieces back together. This will keep it fresh longer than if the pieces are cut from the end.

HARRY'S BOOTIES

If baby insists upon pulling the ties out of her booties, tack them securely to the back of the booties and your trouble will be over.

TIME SAYER

When canning time comes, instead of spending the minutes which it takes to make a spice bag, simply put the spices in your coffee ball and put the coffee ball in the pickling brine. The result will be the same as if a spice bag had been made.

PUDDING HINT

When you have no suit handy and need a little for puddings, chop some fresh dripping and use it in place of suet. It will answer quite as well.

BLACK LACE

To clean black lace, scald some bran with boiling water and dip the lace up and down in this. When warm, squeeze the water out and pull out the edges. Press between muslin in a blanket to avoid glazing.

AND BAKING POWDER

Add a quarter of a teaspoon of baking powder to the mashed potatoes while yop are heating them and they will be much lighter and fluffier than otherwise.

HATS

Some of the most interesting of the new hats are of satin and covered quite completely with an all-over design of fancy braid.

HATS

Very large, soft-brimmed hats are being shown for summer. They are invariably ornamented heavily with flowers.

CLEAN IT OFTEN

Keep a small stiff brush on hand for cleaning the under work of the sewing machine. It is important that this part of the machine be very clean if it is to run well and going over it with a brush will not injure any of the mechanism.

Girl Who Made Part Famous in Films Tells What "The Flapper" Is

GLADYS WALTON

BY GENE COHN

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Attempts to find a definition for that modern American product, "the flapper," have become the popular indoor sport of college campus circles, pink teas and sociological gatherings.

Mrs. Ida Bentley, noted lecturer and writer, started it all when she said to co-eds at the University of California:

"The ordinary conception is a giddy girl of 16 or thereabouts. But there is more meaning than that in the word. A 'flapper' is anyone without a program in life."

"She typifies inconsistency, she believes personality is purely physical. She classifies everyone except herself. She converses in generalities."

Then came Professor Herbert Horne of New York university, with this definition:

"A 'flapper' is a girl who prefers ignorance to truth. She has a conscience but doesn't let it bother her."

The University of Chicago paper, "The Maroon," was out next with this: "The 'flapper' is the girl who parades the campus bareheaded, wears a huge fur coat, and specializes in tenhounds."

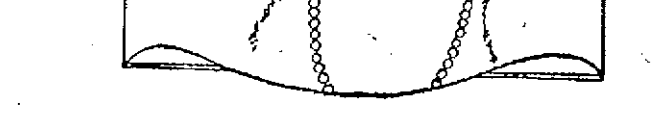

But "the flapper" herself—what does she think of the "flapper?" Gladys Walton, screen actress, who has become nationally known as "America's greatest flapper," has had to be a "flapper" so often on the screen that she ought to know. So I asked her.

"A 'flapper,' says she, "is merely a product of the time. There's nothing particularly mysterious about her. She's merely misunderstood by the old-timers who have been unable to readjust their minds. She is a type of adolescent development and, don't worry, she'll come out all right."

"The theory that she is brainless and the last word in insipidity is belied by the very attention she is attracting. Certainly she must be talented in her 'flapperism' or she wouldn't be so proficient at it. A few years ago we heard of 'toy maidens' and we are always being told to hark back to grandma's time to recall the 'soft and blushing maid'."

"They were typical of their times—and the 'flapper' is no different. She is misunderstood and, hence, misrepresented."

And there you have it!

BIRD HATS POPULAR

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Birds again! Many a woman has it been since we've seen such an array of beautiful feathers of various materials.

Small birds of various materials are quite the smartest of trimmings for spring hats. Very swagger is thin large, swarming brimmed Malro with black luffa top accented with royal blue birds. These purtiful birds are feathered and have sunny, shiny little black beaks and eyes.

The combining of royal blue with black is something new in the color world and exceedingly effective. One finds the combination on the cleverest of this season's hats and gowns.

The hat is faced with royal straw, which has the advantage of being light of weight as well as beautiful to look upon.

BETTER CAR SERVICE FOR BILLERICA

BillERICA citizens have won another campaign for better car service on the Eastern lines.

Beginning tomorrow, commuters of BillERICA and vicinity will have half-hourly car service on Sundays, beginning at 7:30 a. m. and continuing until 5 p. m. The present service is hourly, and BillERICA citizens have long wanted better accommodations, particularly church-goers.

The decision of the company to give the citizens of BillERICA "daily transportation" service on the Sabbath from now on, was responsible for a letter of congratulation sent today by a happy BillERICA citizen to the headquarters of the railway on Prescott street.

South Lowell commuters will have a 11.15 night car home that way for the first time, beginning tomorrow night. The last night car on Sunday evenings now goes at 10:45 p. m. A later car has long been wanted by residents of the south part of the city.

SCHOOL HYGIENE

Dr. Finnegan Confers With Physicians and Nurses

The second conference with school physicians and nurses was held late yesterday by Dr. Francis A. Finnegan, director of school hygiene. Reassignment to schools was announced and rules governing the reporting of illness among pupils were discussed.

It is Dr. Finnegan's desire to have immediate reports sent to him when a child is absent from school for a period of three days by reason of illness or any other cause unknown to the teacher. Before children who have been absent because of sickness with a communicable disease may return to school, the director must make an examination and issue a certificate of health.

After the new department is more fully developed, special classes for the care of anemic and under-nourished children will be established and some means taken whereby lunches may be served to them. Dr. Finnegan already has found evidences of listlessness among pupils in some schools and holds that it is caused by lack of nourishing food at breakfast. Even though it is but a glass of milk, lunches of some sort will be provided.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Plans Complete for Washington Day Dinner and Dance in Lincoln Hall

Final arrangements for the annual Washington Day dinner and dance of the Knights of Columbus, fourth degree, will be completed by the end of the week. The affair will be held in Lincoln hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, are nearing completion. According to all indications, the affair will be the stellar social event of the assembly's career.

The demand for reservations indicates an attendance far in excess of the committee's expectations and presages a large number of knights and their ladies will be present. The last meeting of the committee will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time minor details will be attended to.

The affair will open at 6.30 o'clock with a dinner to be followed by post-prandial exercises presided over by William H. Gallagher, P.M., at townmaster. The principal speaker will be W. Jennings Patton, an eloquent member of the Suffolk county bar and an interesting speaker. His subject will be "Historical Instances of the United States as Viewed from an Educational and Governmental Standpoint." Other speakers will include Hon. Louis Watson of Boston, master of the fourth degree in Cumberland province, and Rev. Francis J. Mullin, S.T.L., faithful friar of the assembly. An entertainment of songs and selections by the orchestra will follow the speaking. General dancing will follow the after-dinner exercises. Dr. R. J. Gendreau will be in charge and he will be aided by a large corps of assistants.

R. R. Clerks Protest Working Schedules

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 18.—New working schedules for railroad clerks were put into effect by the N.Y., N.H. & H.R.R., today but after their announcement the local committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks issued a statement that none of the changes had been agreed to. The latter claimed that the action of the railroad management was an arbitrary one as readjustments of hours were still in dispute. The New Haven road, by its action, abolishes sick leave, Saturday half holidays, pay for holidays and vacations with pay.

Italian Cabinet to Resign

ROME, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—As a result of yesterday's adverse vote in the chamber of deputies, the cabinet of Premier Bonomi decided to present his resignation to King Victor Emmanuel, and the resignation of the ministers will be formally announced in the chamber today, according to a semi-official note issued this morning.

To Revive Patents Treaty With Germany

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The senate foreign relations committee had before it today a message from President Harding asking the senate's advice on the question of reviving the patents treaty with Germany which automatically lapsed with the declaration of a state of war in 1917. Revival of the treaty would automatically restore its provisions for reciprocity in the matter of protection of patents between the two countries. Officials generally held the view that it would have no immediate effect on German patents now held by this country.

$30,000 Fire Loss at North Adams

NORTH ADAMS, Feb. 18.—Damage estimated at $30,000 was caused by a fire which was discovered at 5 o'clock this morning in the Siciliano building, a two story brick structure on Eagle street. The stocks in the shoe store of A. Siciliano, owner of the building, valued at about $20,000 and in the haberdashery store of Harry McGurk, valued at about $10,000, represent almost a total loss. Both are covered by insurance. The quarters of the North Adams Girls' club on the second floor were damaged by smoke and water. The damage to the building itself was not extensive.

Artist Held on Charge of Counterfeiting

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 18.—Sonny Gordon, an artist, was under arrest here today charged with counterfeiting $5 federal reserve notes. According to the police, Gordon drew the entire design of the bills in pen and ink.

MINSTREL SHOW BY SANCTUARY CHOIR

The minstrel show that the sanctuary choir of St. Patrick's church is going to offer to its host of admirers Monday evening in Associate hall, is fast nearing completion. The happy rehearsals that are being held under the direction of Brother John assure the entertainment committee that the show will be a well-balanced and popular affair.

The opening medley chorus of part singing rendered by the entire cast of 50 voices will please the old-time lovers of southern airs, while those who follow the popular songs are sure to get a new treat from the soloists and the six happy and men who handle these numbers. The crossfire of wit, wisdom and humor carried on by the "pep" boys on the end will undoubtedly prove a sure cure for the blues, while the specialty numbers that comprise a well-balanced program are scheduled to create sixty laughs a minute.

After all have tried on melody and humor, the choristers will entertain their friends in the dance hall. The music for the dance will be furnished by Miss Doyle's orchestra.

The committee wishes to announce that tickets may be procured from members of the choir now at the box office on Monday evening and also that on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock

CONGRESS EXCITED OVER THE BONUS FIGHT NOW NEARING SETTLEMENT

Treaties Up for Discussion in Senate—Woman Held Up by Another Woman—Conference on Amateur Radio Matters—Ex-Senator Sutherland's Surprise—Other Matters

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—The question of a soldier bonus is second in interest only to the ratification of the treaties. Up to a few days ago practically all the letters and telegrams on the subject received by congressmen urged a substantial bonus but this week protests have poured in from persons and organizations who believe the additional taxation should not be put on the people of the country. How the members will regard this new phase is hard to predict, but the matter may not go through as quickly or as easily as had been anticipated although the chances are that a bonus bill will pass this session. Chairman Green of the subcommittee having in charge the form of the proposition said today in answer to inquiry by your correspondent, that considerable misunderstanding apparently exists as to the workings of the proposed measure. Many persons think a soldier need not decide at first on the specific form he will accept, but that if he changes his mind after having made a selection from the proposed fivefold plan, he can change to another form. But Chairman Green says the proposed bill won't permit swapping horses and that after a man has once fixed on the form he will take he cannot change to another. That is, if a soldier decides he will take his benefit under the farm loan plan, and tries it out for a few weeks, he cannot change and try out another plan, not even the cash bonus. He must stick to his first choice; but, added Mr. Green, a man will be given ample time and opportunity to make a choice. After that he must continue in the line of his original selection.

Gov. Lake and His Chances
One of the recent visitors to Washington was Governor Lake of Connecticut, who, as a governor, has the floor privileges of senate and house. He was sitting in the private lobby of the house chatting with a couple of Connecticut members of congress when Congressman Frothingham of Massachusetts came through the door. It was hard to tell which of the two was more surprised or more pleased. It's years since Lake and Frothingham have met, but back in college days Lake was halfback on the football team and Frothingham was his substitute. While they were talking over old times, in came Congressman Nick Longworth, who married Allen Rossvelt—and he, too, was of the same Harvard class.

Woman Held Up Woman
A few evenings ago, some one was reading from a New York paper an account of a woman in that city holding up another woman whom she met on the street and demanding she surrender the dress she was wearing. Woman No. 1 claiming it as her own, and that it had been stolen.

"That reminds me," said the reader, "of a little incident I once witnessed here in Washington at a card party where the prizes ran short. It was Col. S., whose wife did not play cards, but was present and circulating among the guests. When the time came for distribution of prizes the colonel found to his dismay that he had miscounted and was one prize short. Rushing upstairs to his wife's room, he seized a very beautiful silver engraved comb from Mrs. S.'s dressing table, and rushing back presented it to the last lady to whom a prize should fall. The lady, amazed and exclaimed, 'what a beauty!' as she placed it in her hair. A moment later the colonel's wife walked into that corner of the room. Pointing an accusing finger at the guest—that is, say comb—she demanded—'that is the bewitched comb'—complained the colonel cried loudly to explain and guests made a hasty departure as they smothered their smiles and left the colonel to his fate."

Conference Treaties
One by one former republican endorse and democratic leaders are coming out in favor of the conference treaties and it looks as if opposition would be limited to a very small number of senators, and that the opposition would not be of a partisan nature.

Woman Suffrage Statue
The woman suffrage statue placed in the crypt of the capital by enthusiastic suffrage workers has again "moved on." This time it has merely taken up a new stand in the crypt and instead of standing directly under the dome of the capital, and thus obstructing the longest corridor in the world, as the crypt corridor is claimed to be, the statue now stands a little to the back of the centre in the same group of great granite pillars, which afford a fine background to the huge block of marble, from which rise the figures of three pioneers in the woman suffrage movement. Much complaint was registered by persons frequently passing through the crypt, and from tourists, the first claiming it made them turn aside in their passage to and from one end of the building to the other, while tourists complained because the long vista of which they had read and heard so much was obstructed by a huge statue, which many of them failed to admire.

Villa Would Lead Men Against Rebels

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Francisco Villa, former bandit chief, has asked official permission to lead his men against Gen. Rosalio Hernandez, who was reported several days ago as in rebellion in the state of Chihuahua. Back in 1914 Hernandez was Villa's trusted aide but he went over to Carranza when Villa and the latter split. Villa now sees a chance to pay off the old score. "There is no reason for the alarm of the United States authorities over threats of rebellion along the frontier, according to Acting Secretary of War Serrano. He said there are no rebels of importance close to the boundary, and the 'few desperadoes in Chihuahua do not dare attack a single federal military unit.'"

Woman's Fire Company Organized

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 18.—The first woman's fire company in Delaware has been organized at Holloway Terrace with 10 charter members. It is an auxiliary of the men's volunteer company and was organized as a protection in case of fire when the men are away at work. The women said they expected to assume all of a firemen's duties, from sealing a ladder to handling a line of hose.

RECEIPTS ARE SLACKENING UP

Big Shrinkage of Cotton Receipts in Lowell and Other N. E. Cities

Southern Textile Mills Reported to be Running Day and Night

Cotton receipts in Lowell are slackening up.

Textile mill surveys of the movement of cotton to the various manufacturing centers in New England show that there has been a tremendous shrinkage of the movement of cotton into Lowell and other New England cities since Jan. 1.

The figures show Lowell to have received very far from its usual average amount. Compared with last year's movement, which up to the end of the twelfth month was fair considering mill operating conditions, the 1922 shipments to date appear very small and rather surprising to watchers for signs of busier times in the local textile mills.

Some students of the textile trade familiar with the cotton and other raw goods markets, say the really surprising shrinkage in receipts in January would indicate a long continued curtailment of operations in numerous cotton textile mills.

The receipts of the five principal cotton consuming centers of the New England territory, including Lowell, show that a healthy movement of cotton began in each of the five "centers" last November and continued through December, but "petered out" last month, when only 79,893 bales were received.

This number is less than two-thirds the receipts of December and scarcely more than one-half the November receipts.

New Bedford received 28,758 bales last month and Fall River 35,000, while Lowell is credited with receiving but 9,181 bales, Manchester 2,225 and Lawrence 3,581.

The figures last year for Lowell, during the same month, were 12,592 bales. Two years ago the figures were 30,763 bales.

A summary of the six months' totals of cotton received by Lowell mills up to the present time shows 95,541 bales, compared with 58,033 last year and 123,606 before the year before that.

Southern textile mills are now reported to be running day and night in some instances, the managers believing that by flooding the markets with goods, prices can be lowered and a real demand created.

One of the largest gingham manufacturers in the country, the Ameskeag Manufacturing Co. of Manchester, N. H., through its treasurer, has sent a letter to the National Retailers' association, in which he earnestly full production as a means for lower prices. This letter has caused considerable discussion in mill circles.

The southern mill reports show vastly improved conditions in most sections this month. Many manufacturers are seeking to lower their costs through night operations. Help is abundant and willing to work at night, the mill men say, and the temptation to adopt night schedules has been strong.

Most cotton manufacturers of long experience do not favor night running, either as a means of cutting costs or for other purposes, claiming that the percentage of seconds is increased and the day is hastened when a surplus of product will become a market factor.

Reports that the larger southern operations are prompted by certain handicaps in New England mills at this time and the desire to force their competition on the northern mills, are given much credence in textile circles.

It is now in Washington, but is an unfringed visitor to the capital, where, of course, he has the privilege of entering the senate at will and chatting with his former colleagues. Soon after he retired from congress Sutherland of West Virginia was elected to the senate. This week when the roll was being called Sutherland of Utah dropped into the chamber just in time to hear the clerk cry "Mr. Sutherland"—and from a force of habit turned quickly and was on the point of shouting "back to present," when a broad smile on the face of the senator with whom he was talking, saved the day, and Sutherland closed his lips just in time.

Holding Their Heads High

The Connecticut congressional delegation is holding its head mightily high these days. All because President Harding said at the Lincoln day banquet that he "craved a return to the intelligent convention as a means of electing men to public office." As Connecticut is the only state in the country which did not run amuck and put a primary law into effect before it had been tried out elsewhere as an experiment, the men elected under the Connecticut convention system now feel that they are on the top rung of the ladder, and they have a fervent wish to stay down in their hearts that they might even if they did not interrupt President Harding by shouting it across the banquet table.

Conference on Radio Matters

On the 21th of this month Secretary Hoover will call together a conference for consideration of how to deal with the radio system, especially how to deal with amateur interference of commercial and government messages. Congressman White of Maine has been asked to attend and advise, as he is something of a radio expert and a member of the Merchant Marine committee which has radio measure under consideration. It is said the amateur radio players have with business and government work, and how to meet the situation without depriving amateurs of privileges the government wants them to enjoy if it can be done without detriment to business, is one of the big questions the conference will consider.

Principles of eutraphy were discovered and formulated in 1874.

FORMER GERMAN CABLES WOMEN QUIT OFFICE

International Conference to Consider Allocation in Washington Next Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—An international conference to consider the allocation of former German cables in the Atlantic will be called in Washington next week, acting Secretary Fletcher announced today.

Representatives of France, England, Italy, Japan and the United States will be asked to meet and determine the disposition of the three cable lines taken over under the provisions of the treaty of Versailles.

The cables are now being operated by England and France, under an agreement with the other interested powers which provides the revenues shall be impounded and later divided among the powers in accordance with decisions reached by a conference on the subject.

Under the present arrangement, Great Britain is operating the former German cable from Halifax to Pernambuco, while France is in control of two running from Brazil to New York and from Brazil to Pernambuco, Brazil.

Italy has been making use of one of these cables and has suggested that revenues from their operation be applied to the construction of a new line from the Azores to a point in Italy, thus giving the Rome government direct cable communication with the Americas.

The chief interest of the United States, it was said at the state department has been to obtain direct cable communication with Germany over the line from New York to Hamburg, connecting there with a line terminating in German territory.

The interests of Japan in the former German cables are understood to have been largely satisfied by the award to her of one of the lines radiating from the island of Guam, in the Pacific. It was said, but Ambassador Shidekawa will be invited to the forthcoming conference because of Japan's direct interest in the Atlantic cables under the Versailles treaty.

Although the Dutch government has not assented formally to the division of German cables in the Pacific, where a line running from Guam to its colonies in the Orient was given to The Hague government, it was said today that the settlement effected under the Guam agreement would be in every way acceptable to The Netherlands.

SALVATION ARMY BADLY IN NEED OF MONEY

The Salvation Army is right up against the wall as for as money is concerned at the present time. The drain on its funds has been so great in the past three months that it is doubtful if the work can be carried on much longer unless financial assistance is forthcoming from some source.

A collapse of the Salvation Army's work is going to work a very great hardship on a number of poor and needy families of this city. Here is what this organization is doing at the present time. It is feeding on an average of seven people a week through the medium of a soup kitchen. It is carrying food to those unable to come after it and it is lending 32 order slips on certain Lowell markets through which people may obtain food.

WANTS MILL BOOKS OPEN FOR EXAMINATION

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 17.—Organizer William H. He declared the strikers were ready to accept a settlement based on what the books showed.

Both the mill owners and the strike organizations announced today the names of the men who will represent them at the meeting tomorrow.

The prisoners refused to recognize the court, as they were soldiers of the Irish republican army and repudiated the solicitor who had been instructed by relatives who defend them. Women sympathizers staged a demonstration in the court when the prisoners were removed.

College President Replies to Charge of Being "Atheist" and Unfit to Teach

MADISON, Feb. 17.—President E. A. Birge of the University of Wisconsin today replied to assertions of William J. Bryan, made here a year ago and repeated recently, that he was an "atheist" and an unfit teacher for students because of his acceptance of modern science, including the theory of evolution.

In a letter to the Rev. E. S. Worcester, pastor of the First Congregational church of which President Birge has been an officer for 40 years, President Birge said:

"Mr. P. seemed to dislike especially my attitude toward religion to a 'discredited scientific hypothesis.' I think that the history of the church gives good ground for my objection. In the 15th century people were told that the doctrine of a round world was 'atheistic' and a century or so later the Copernican astronomy was called 'atheistic.' In the 19th century evolution, in a like manner, was called 'atheistic' by men of whom Mr. Bryan is a belated follower.

"Did such teachings help religion in the past and is there any good reason to think that Mr. Bryan will succeed where his predecessors have failed dismally during four centuries?"

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Delegates to the conference of 52 eastern railroad managers and leaders of the conductors and trainmen's unions, in session here announced today that they are "getting somewhere" and that they probably will avert the deadlock which has threatened in the controversy over wages and working conditions. Members described the temper of both sides as "amicable and cooperative."

WILL PASS BONUS BILL TARIFF REVISION BILL

Chairman Fordney Says Republican House Will Adopt Soldier Measure

Final Action on American Valuation Feature Postponed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The soldier bonus bill will be reported to a republican caucus within the next days and a republican house will pass it, Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee declared in the house today during a discussion over the manner of its framing.

The house was thrown into an uproar during discussion of the measure after Representative Garner of Texas ranking democrat on the committee, had protested against the notion of the republican members in calling a representative of the American Legion to advise with them at a secret session from which democrats were excluded.

Representative Mondell, Wyoming, republican leader, answered Mr. Garner and then Chairman Fordney joined the debate.

"The republican members of the ways and means committee have not thought it proper to call in men unalterably opposed to the bonus for a discussion of that bill," the chairman declared. "We had before us today an officer of the legion so we could ask him for expert information and he gave it. The bonus bill will be presented to a caucus of house republicans in 10 days and a republican house will pass it. The republican caucus will either agree with what we have framed or will direct us how to fix it."

Feasibility of reducing or eliminating entirely the cash payment provisions of the five cent bonus bill sponsored by Chairman Fordney was said to have been considered at today's session of the ways and means committee. Two representatives of war veterans organizations—John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the American Legion legislative committee and Richard Jones spokesman for the veterans of foreign wars—were questioned by Senator Lodge, who men would feel if no cash payments were authorized.

There was considerable discussion of the provision of the naval limitation treaty fixing a fortifications "status quo" in the Pacific. Committee members indicated that they would desire the advice of American naval authorities before they acted on the fortifications article.

Senators Johnson and Borah asked a number of questions regarding the fortifications "status quo" agreement under which the United States pledges not to fortify further the Philippines and Guam.

Senator Johnson also told his colleagues that he desired further information as to how the "status quo" zone was defined and indicated that he would either ask for the appearance of American officers before the committee or for adoption of a resolution asking the executive branch of the government for the desired data.

Senator Borah also started a committee discussion regarding the Chinese tariff treaty, asking whether its provisions did not infringe upon the sovereignty of China. He was assured by Senator Lodge that the arrangement was the most satisfactory that could be obtained at the present time, but there were indications that further discussion would be necessary.

While they awaited word from the White House on the four power pact, the committee members revived in their private consultations, the project of a reservation declaring that the agreement could not be construed as obligating the United States to use armed force without the express authorization of congress.

Several members, both republicans and democrats, were said to be leaning toward adoption of such a stipulation and all agreed that much debate was in prospect both within the committee and on the senate floor.

Various money pumps were recommended by local men, but sharper, who called up outside towns, Bracon folk appeared to be warmer in their domiciles with only 14 and 16 registered in the centre of the town early in the day. North Chelmsford railroad people read 19 on the station there.

Westford and North Andover, and Chelmsford Centre residents, inquiring at the ginger ale offices for the best thermometer reading in town, saw a red line after the 18. At the State Infirmary in Tewksbury, the glass read 22. Other places in that town recorded figures all the way from 14 to 21. In North Billerica the glasses were 18 and 16 in places two miles apart. North Tewksbury came in with a 20 registration.

The weather bureau predicts fair and "much warmer" weather for today and this evening, with cloudy weather tomorrow, milder temperatures and fresh southerly winds.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 18.—Shirley Krenzel of Krenzel Brothers, diamond importer of New York and Chicago, reported to the police today he had been robbed on a train of diamonds which cost him $76,899 and which had a retail value of between $125,000 and $150,000.

CONVENTION IN UPROAR

Disorder Quieted by Speech of Mother Jones—Defended Howat

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 18.—Disorder broke out in the convention of the United Mine Workers of America today, during the roll call in the Kansas case, disclosing that the convention committee had increased the eligible voting list by adding new names as delegates.

While the disorder was at its height, Mother Jones, 92 years old, organizer of the union, made her way through the delegates to the stage and pleaded with them for order.

"Don't you know that the whole industrial world is looking to you for a lesson?" began Mother Jones. "You are wasting time that means money and the children at home need it. I am not here to cause a riot. I am here to cause a revolution. You must realize that the enemy that we are fighting from the outside is now boring from the inside."

"I don't endorse any wrong," replied Mother Jones to a delegate shouting that the union officers were acting unfairly in the Kansas case. "There is not an officer that I would not raise hell with to right a wrong. But you should not come here to howl and hoot."

Mother Jones praised Alexander Howat for his opposition to the Kansas Industrial court law and his other work as a member of the miners' union, saying: "My desire is to have a million Alex Howats in the country."

RICKARD QUILTS NEW YORK

Leases St. Louis Coliseum for 25 Years—To Create Sport Amphitheatre

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Tex Rickard, sporting promoter, who resigned yesterday from the management of the Madison Square Garden Sporting club after his indictment on a charge of assaulting two small girls, has leased the St. Louis Coliseum for 25 years and arranged for creation there of a modern sport amphitheatre similar to the Garden in this city.

Rickard said that the arena would be devoted to indoor swimming during the summer. At other seasons the structure would be used for boxing, horse, athletic meets and general exhibitions and industrial shows.

John Ringling, newly elected president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, will not be officially connected with the St. Louis venture. It is understood, however, that J. Franklin Whitman of Philadelphia and others will be associated with Rickard. The extension of the Madison Square Garden idea to other cities is in line with plans made by Rickard more than a year ago. He has intended eventually to establish a chain of amphitheatres and control them under one national sport corporation.

Other cities which soon may be selected are Philadelphia and Kansas City.

TO TAKE TESTIMONY IN STILLMAN CASE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 18.—A commission to take testimony at Montreal beginning March 13, in the divorce suit of James A. Stillman against Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, was granted today by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser on application of defense counsel.

Eugene H. Godin of Montreal, was appointed commissioner to take evidence there relating to charges that witnesses against Mrs. Stillman were bribed and tempted with bribes.

Defense counsel requested an early date for the Montreal sessions because the river was now frozen and would serve as highways on which witnesses might make their way down from the St. Maurice valley, whereas after the thaw set in, their progress would be delayed.

WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Civil Service Rules Suspended for Five-Weeks Emergency Period

The civil service notified City Engineer Stephen Kearney by telephone today that the commissioner would authorize and approve an emergency period of five weeks for Lowell, during which time money included in the $30,000 appropriation voted by the city council for relief of the employment situation might be spent under the direction of the board of public service.

Suspension of the civil service rules was granted to the extent that the commissioner would authorize the emergency employment of a man for six days only out of the five weeks, but under no consideration would any one man be allowed to get more than six days' work during this period.

Following the receipt of this information, Engineer Kearney notified the members of the public service board and a meeting was arranged for and held at 12 o'clock in the mayor's reception room for the purpose of discussing the matter and agreeing upon the method of procedure.

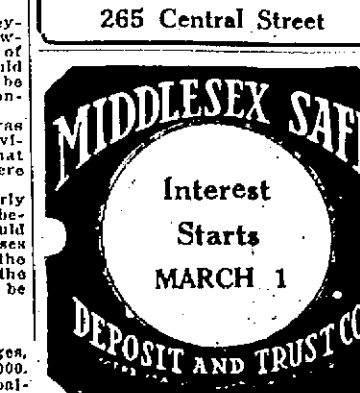

The tentative plan involved is to have Cornelius F. Cronin submit names of men he has listed for work to the public service board through Sept. of Streets Harry Doherty, following a notification by the board to Mr. Cronin as to the number of emergency men that can be handled at one time.

TEXTILE WORKERS OUT ON STRIKE ARE STILL CONFIDENT

Official Strike Leader Says Today's Roll Call Best Yet—Instruction and Organization Meetings Next Week—Lowell Operatives Will Attend Lawrence Rally Tomorrow

Beginning next Monday, at 2 p. m., and continuing indefinitely each afternoon and evening, local textile workers will hold open instruction and organization meetings and roll calls at Lowell's hall headquarters for the purpose of further strengthening the ranks of the men and women opposing more energetically than ever wage reductions in textile plants.

The evening meetings will open at 8 o'clock. Different speakers each evening will be the rule, and there will be able speakers on textile work and wage matters each afternoon.

President John Hanley of the Lowell Textile council believes these meetings will help materially in presenting the workers' side of the present labor wage difficulty. Every effort will be made to keep in touch with all the big mill centers of New England daily, and keep local workers informed of the situation in each city where mills are closed and workers out of employment.

Reports from the strike districts in Rhode Island and from northern points received by President Hanley this morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

Fearing Civil War in Florida Sheriff of Baker County Appeals for Help

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 18.—The sheriff of Baker county appealed today to the Duval county authorities for help in coping with a situation at MacClenny, 30 miles west of here, which he said threatens to develop into civil warfare as the culmination of the shooting and seriously wounding here this morning of Jack Wilkinson, the kidnapping last week of a man named Robinson and the recent mysterious disappearance of "T. R. Henderson, former banker and wealthy naval stores operator.

One citizen of MacClenny stated over the telephone this afternoon that "hell will break loose here tonight," and that he was preparing to move his wife and children from the town to a place of safety. Gov. Hardee of Tallahassee, said he had heard nothing from the Baker county authorities but declared if troops were requested he was prepared to act immediately. Reports from MacClenny were that the trouble apparently was an outbreak of a feud which has existed between two pioneer Baker county families for 20 years. Henderson disappeared 10 days ago. His automobile was found Wednesday in the bottom of St. Mary's river which forms the Florida-Georgia boundary.

One threatened her with a pistol while the second covered the elevator operator. They took the money and fled.

The West Carnifax, bound from Rotterdam for Galveston, in messages intercepted earlier in the week, said her fuel and food supplies were exhausted. She carried a crew of 40 men.

COMMISSION FINISHES WORK

Practically Every Department is Materially Reduced—No Cut in Wages

More Than $100,000 is Lopped Off the School Department Total

Mayor Says 1922 Tax Rate Will Not Exceed Present Figure of $31.40

The budget and audit commission has reduced the estimates submitted by city departments for 1922 by $175,277.31, slashing right and left from items for equipment and supplies but leaving wages at the figures now prevailing.

The commission's figures in re-computation form were submitted to Mayor Geo. H. Brown at noon today. Accompanying the figures was a statement to the mayor in letter form, which covered some of the departments that received the greatest cuts. The commission did not allow the item of $32,600 for new fire department equipment and also boldly slashed the school department estimates more than $100,000.

When Mayor Brown saw the completed work of the commission he said that there would be no increase in the tax rate this year, intimating that he would not increase the recommendations in total before presenting the budget to the city council for passage.

The mayor also said that he did not favor any increase in property valuations this year and felt sure that the present tax rate of $31.40 would not be exceeded.

"I feel now that we can shave a little from the present rate and this we will make every effort to do."

Total amount of money asked for this year by all city departments, exclusive of the water department, was $1,792,193.16 and if allowed would mean an increase of several dollars in the tax rate, the members of the budget commission say. They also state that last year's tax rate of $31.40 was $2.21 above the average for all Massachusetts cities.

"Believing that any increase in the tax rate would be detrimental to the present and future of the city and a hardship to all its citizens, we have reduced the estimates submitted by the commission total $1,616,915.85, against expenditures last year of $1,241,401.70, or an increase of hardly more than $30,000.

The commission recommends that some different arrangement be made for caring for the horses of the department of public buildings, as the cost in wages alone, for 1921 was $5319 for six horses.

The letter in full follows: Hon. George H. Brown, Mayor, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir: In accordance with the terms of the charter we herewith present our estimate of expenditures for the city of Lowell during the present year.

The total amount asked for, exclusive of the water department, was $1,792,193.16, and if allowed, this would mean an increase of several dollars in the tax rate. The rate for last year ($31.40) was $2.21 above the average for all the cities of Massachusetts.

Believing that any increase in this tax rate would be detrimental to the present and future of the city and a hardship to all its citizens, we have reduced the estimates submitted by the sum of $1,616,915.85.

Our estimate therefore, is $1,616,915.85.

Nuns Fight Fire and Rescue 100 Children

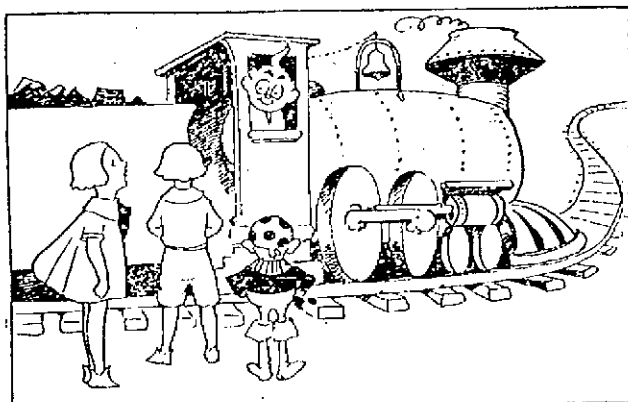

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Nuns at St. Joseph's Home for the Friendless early today fought a fire under direction of the Mother Superior while others took out 100 children ranging from two to 14 years. Many of the children were carried out sleeping and the older ones were awakened and marched out in orderly lines. The mother superior detailed 12 nuns to work a hose from a bathroom faucet while the remainder looked after the removal of the children. The fire was confined to the attic.

Adventures of the Twins

"MIST LAND"

THERE WAS A NICE LITTLE TRAIN OF CARS TO MEET THEM

The next place to which Buckins took the twins was called Mist Land. It was another part of the Kingdom of Up-In-the-Air.

When the magic apple tree elevator stopped and they all got out, there was a nice little train of cars to meet them and a jolly engineer looking out of the window.

Buckins introduced them. "Nancy and Nick, this is Scoutlong, the steam fairy. Scoutlong, these are the twins and we're on adventures. I'm glad you are here to meet us."

Scoutlong touched his cap and said that he was much obliged to meet them, and that he'd been looking for them, ever since he'd received Buckins' telegram that they were coming.

Buckins explained to the twins that the reason all steam went straight up to the sky was because it was really a million fairies going to Scoutlong for orders. He was chief of them all. "No one knows how important a person Scoutlong is," went on Buckins, "for the fire express down on the earth all depends on him and his fairies for being on time. He tells the steam fairies just how to push the wheels of the engine around when the engineer opens the throttle, and how to blow the whistle at the crossings, and how to stop the train at important places, and everything. Yes, Mr. Scoutlong is a very important person."

Mr. Scoutlong bowed and touched his cap again and repeated that he was much obliged for the compliment. "Won't you hop in now, young friends?" he asked. "I'll take you around and show you things. We're all busy up here in Mist Land from the teletype fairies to the fog fairies. Mr. Scoutlong—how doesn't make all the weather."

Nancy and Nick thanked him and followed Buckins into one of the funny little cars.

Mrs. Caruso Interested in Spiritualism

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the Metropolitan Opera star, today announced that she was interested in spiritualism, and had enrolled in a small group of society and stage people who have attended seances in the last few weeks. "At the first meeting I attended the medium hadn't the least idea who I was," she declared, "and he said, 'I see somebody asleep, and there is a chapel and a priest and a nun. I also see a cross. Don't worry.'"

Mrs. Caruso interpreted this to mean the chapel where her husband rests in Naples. It is being cared for by members of a religious order, and the cross is the small cross of her rosary which she had placed upon her husband's body. "I am not seeking any message from the dead," she explained, "but I have become tremendously interested in the subject in purely an impersonal manner."

HELD OLD TIME DANCING PARTY

An old time dancing party, with a program made up almost exclusively of dances that are never seen in a modern dance hall, was given in Pils' hall last evening by "Joe" Hubbard, at one time Lowell's leading orchestra leader, ever in demand for parties like that given last night. A large attendance of old-time dancers, many of whom have not attended dances since the coming of jazz, thoroughly enjoyed the evening's program. During the evening such dances as the following were featured: redowa, waltz Oxford, Newport, galop, duchess, lancers, Virginia, and Lady Washington's reels, Portland, fancy, tango, and a number of quadrilles, with Mr. Hubbard ending off the figures.

FOURTH WEEK OF STRIKE THE IMPROVEMENT

Conditions in Pawtuxet Valley—Merchants Offer Concessions to Strikers

ARCTIC, R. I., Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—A sign that greets all comers as the trolley car flies down into the little village of Natick says: "You are now in the Pawtuxet valley. Tax exemptions for new industries. Pawtuxet Valley board of trade." But the cluster of mill villages that extends some 11 miles along the river valley isn't thinking about new industries now. It is wondering what is going to happen to the old ones. Today marks the end of the fourth week of the strike that has closed the textile mills in the valley because the operators refused to accept a 20 per cent wage cut and an increase in working hours.

There are other signs in these villages now. One in the window of a barber shop reads: "Strikers, save 10 cents. Hair cut 20 cents." Another on the front of a clothing store says that "on account of the strike" the markdown sale which was to have ended Feb. 11, has been extended to March 1. And on a doorway in Arctic Center yesterday was a sign reading: "Mass meeting tonight."

The doorway opens on a staircase at the top of which another door leads into a big hall, here save for two long board tables and a few chairs. This is strike headquarters for the Pawtuxet valley. There are no guards on the doors. Men, women and children enter and leave at will. Smoking is permitted. Yesterday afternoon, a goodly group of men sat or stood about the hall, chatting quietly and appearing to be in good spirits. Inquiry for the strike leader, William H. Derrick, developed that he had stepped out to "buy some collars." Presently he returned, collars in hand.

Nothing to Arbitrate

Derrick is an organizer for the Amalgamated Textile Workers. He is affable but earnest. He declared the strikers had nothing to arbitrate, but he hopes the mill owners can be persuaded to the view that the operatives cannot afford to accept the new conditions.

He explained that the Amalgamated wanted to bring about here the system already in operation in certain industries in other places. This system provides for joint committees of employers and workers to talk over disputed points as to wages and working conditions, with an impartial chairman to have the deciding vote. This chairman is an salary which is paid jointly by the employer and the union, and is empowered to examine into costs of manufacturing and living costs.

14 Meals a Week

Derrick said the Amalgamated was well provided with funds, and was making the strikers as comfortable as possible. A restaurant has been opened here where food is provided free to unmarried men. They are given tickets for 14 meals a week. "We figure," said Derrick, "that able-bodied men can get along on that. Preparations are being made for the opening of additional restaurants in other parts of the valley. In addition, credit slips are given the strikers which they can exchange for needed supplies at the stores and the merchants cash these slips at strike headquarters daily.

Concessions to Strikers

Aside from the occasional sign and the eloquent silence of the machinery in the mills, there is little outward appearance of a strike. Pickets visit the mills daily in small numbers, as Derrick explained, to keep them in practice should be consider a more active picketing necessary later. He asserted that many of the merchants were giving concessions to the strikers and that one doctor had offered to treat free any cases of illness in strikers' families.

One storekeeper admitted yesterday that there had been a considerable slackening of trade, but he expressed himself as optimistic of an early settlement. The trolley cars between the valley and Providence are well patronized.

Today Derrick was ready to go to Providence to outline the case for the strikers before a special state board of mediation and conciliation.

IN HIS CONDITION WAS REMARKABLE

There are many people who lack strength and energy, have no appetite, do not sleep well and awake in the morning as tired as when they go to bed. Yet they have no organic disease which justifies expensive treatment so they drift along, getting a little more run-down all the time, for the condition is one that does not correct itself. These people are often misunderstood and get but little sympathy. The condition is one of general debility. What is needed is a general tonic for the blood and nerves. How this treatment meets the requirements of the situation is well illustrated by the case of Mr. Edward J. Flynn, of No. 7 Marshall street, Roxbury, Boston 19, Mass. His story:

"I was very weak, had no desire to eat and did not enjoy my meals. My digestion was disturbed and I was troubled greatly with gas on the stomach. I lacked strength and had no ambition for anything. My whole system was run down and debilitated. Upon the advice of a friend who had used them with benefit I finally gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I felt improvement before I had finished the first box, so much so that I decided to continue the treatment. I did and the improvement in my condition is remarkable. I have a good appetite now, enjoy my meals and have no distress after eating."

"My wife can also endorse Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as she also has used them with great benefit. We are both glad to praise them."

A useful booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, price 60 cents a box. Adv.

EXPULSION OF HOWATT APPROVED BY UNION

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—By a margin of less than 100 of its 3525 votes, the delegate convention of the United Mine Workers of America here yesterday refused to consider the appeal of Alexander Howatt, for the union reinstatement of himself and other expelled Kansas miners.

While the defeat was shown only by unofficial tabulations of the vote, Mr. Howatt last night conceded he had been beaten, also did his principal supporter, Frank Farrington, the leader of the miners' union. The official vote will not be completed until today, when the roll of absentee delegates will be called, but Mr. Howatt said he doubted that any material change would result from the additional balloting.

In effect, the vote approved the expulsion of Howatt and his followers by President John J. Lewis, who said he accepted the decision of the delegates as the miners' convention last fall. Howatt, however, has yet the right to appeal the expulsion order to the union's executive board and in event of its refusal can bring the question before the union's next convention, which will be held in 1924.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE MEETING

The February meeting of the League of Catholic Women, to be held in Assolante hall tomorrow afternoon at 2.15 o'clock, will have special features equally as pleasing as those presented at past meetings in this most successful season. For the speaker of the day, the officers of the league have been fortunate in securing Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, ex-mayor of Boston, who will deliver a talk on "Women's Rights and Responsibilities," a topic which should be of interest to every member of the league. There was also excellent singing by Mr. Herbert Froese, director of the choir at St. Patrick's church, South Lawrence. Rev. John J. Gilday, formerly of Lowell, pastor of St. Patrick's in Lawrence, is a brother of the league president, Mrs. J. T. Donohue.

The league orchestra and mandolin club will undoubtedly furnish an excellent instrumental program, and the community singing at the beginning and end of the meeting, led by Mrs. Joseph Green, will give every member a chance to participate in the program. Mrs. J. T. Donohue, president, will be in the chair.

COLD WAVE BROKEN

Generally Fair Weather Predicted by Weather Bureau Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The cold wave which for two days has been holding the East in its grip was giving way today to higher temperatures. The bureau said the outlook was for generally fair weather, but with much cloudiness tonight and Sunday in the states east of the Mississippi river. Higher temperatures were forecast for tonight.

EXPECT TO PASS BONUS BILL BEFORE MARCH 4

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—With 10 days announced by Chairman Fordney as the time within which their draft of the measure would be completed, republican members of the house wave and means committee continued at work on the soldiers' bonus bill today.

There appeared to be a growing determination among republicans to put the measure through regardless of what might happen to it in the senate. Leaders said if the bill was in shape for consideration by a republican caucus within the time set by Mr. Fordney, it would be passed before March 4.

It was stated at the White House yesterday that if the sales tax plan is adopted President Harding would view with favor a tax on production rather than on general retail sales. This executive was said to consider the former as the simplest form, especially since it would avoid the problem of exemptions likely to arise under a general retail tax.

Textile Workers Confident

confirm the statement made by Mr. Hanley and several textile union organizers to The Sun yesterday—that the strike has thus far been conducted peacefully everywhere, and that only harmonious relations exist between workers and employers.

"This was to have been expected, of course," said Mr. Hanley. "There have been no signs of trouble of any kind since the mill workers struck in protest against lower wages. No trouble is expected and none is wanted. Lowell mill workers, as is known, are peaceful, industrious and home-loving. And they are fighting this battle for their homes, for home comforts, for their families and their future well-being when they decline to work for wages that are lowered so radically at a time when the prices of the world's goods cost so much. The workers are confident today."

"Next week we shall have a series of meetings, sure to be largely attended day and evening, from reports I have had today. We are making an earnest struggle in Lowell without outside help of any kind, and hope to have our demand for decent living wages complied with."

None of the textile workers so far interviewed has any idea of giving up this struggle. "The principle is worth fighting for, and we believe that the peaceful measures that Lowell textile workers always employ in waging vital campaigns of this kind will prevail," is the general sentiment.

Next Week's Meetings

President Hanley's plans for next week's two-day meetings in Loom-fixer's hall were outlined this morning in detail to a reporter. At least two prominent speakers will be present each day. There will be local as well as outside orators, and men from cities interested in industrial affairs. Some of these men will not necessarily belong to textile unions, but will have the welfare of the union men at heart, and each will have something important to say.

It is President Hanley's intention to call upon several well known clergymen to attend one or two of the week's rallies in the labor hall. The president was supplied with the names of three clergymen this afternoon, each of whom will respond promptly when called upon, it is said.

There is no intention, Mr. Hanley said, of enlarging upon the strike or featuring the strike in the address. The president said that the workingman's home life and pocket-books have been preparing for just charitable work at this time, as the workers now off the mill payroll have been preparing for just such an eventuality. An idea and an equipped in many cases, it is said, to struggle along for some time to come, believing that the wage matter will soon be adjusted in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

Plan Monster Rally

Local textile workers on strike received cheering news yesterday when announcement was made from headquarters in Trades and Labor hall that on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26, at 2 o'clock, in Crescent rink, on Third street, a monster rally of the strikers and all loyal supporters in the mill wage controversy, would be held. It had been planned for some time to have a rally of large proportions, but International President Thomas H. McMahon of the United Textile Workers of America, who is to be the principal speaker, Feb. 26, was unable to come until the date now agreed upon.

In a telegram to President John Hanley, received by the latter this afternoon, Mr. McMahon states that he is glad to come to Lowell and meet textile workers with a reputation unexcelled anywhere in the country for unity of organization and supporters of law and order. Several other international officers may accompany Mr. McMahon, local textile council officials say. Arrangements will be made to entertain visiting textile workers from nearby cities and towns.

A Truly Sunday

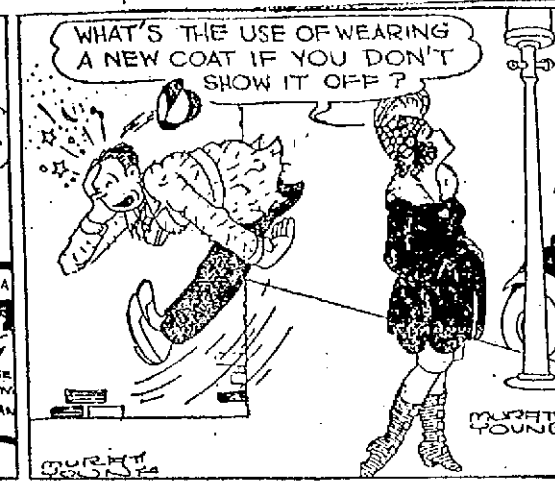

Local textile workers will be largely represented at the rally of the textile council workers in Lawrence, tomorrow afternoon. President Hanley and officials of the nine locals will attend. This new organization, known as the United Textile Workers of New England, will meet at 134 Broadway, Lawrence, at 5.30 sharp. Representatives of textile unions will be there from Manchester, N. H., Lawrence, Lowell and Maynard.

Landis Quits Bench

resignation as federal judge in Washington, effective March 1.

The judge then called the first case on his docket and refused to discuss the matter until court recess.

Judge Landis will have virtually completed 17 years as judge for the northern district of Illinois when his resignation becomes effective.

Rumors of the resignation have been current for months, and intimate friends have known for some time that the action was imminent.

It has been generally understood that Judge Landis would have resigned some time ago but for the attacks on him by Senator Dial of South Carolina and the notoriety brought through his handling of the case of Willie Dalton, 17-year-old bank robber. On the verge of resigning when these things came up, the judge changed his plans; "informing friends that he would never resign under fire."

Senator Dial had attacked the judge because of the latter's statement that bank officials sometimes were partly responsible for robberies by boys who they did not make adequate salaries. Senator Dial and Representative Wiley of Ohio later proposed impeachment proceedings against the judge, the representative basing his case on the holding of two positions by the judge. Both cases were dropped.

The judge became head of organized baseball shortly after the grand jury investigation into the 1919 world series scandal.

Although 56 years old, Judge Landis has always been known as a boy at heart and a lover of all forms of sport. The baseball magnates urged him to resign his bench "for the sake of the American boy," and it was this plea which won.

His unique conduct in court, where he frequently took the cases out of the lawyers' hands and examined witnesses himself, caused him to be known by all law-breakers. At the same time, his reputation for administering justice brought him universal respect.

He was vigorous in his attitude against anti-Americans during the war. In every war case brought before him where the defendant was found guilty, the judge imposed drastic sentences and scathingly denounced anyone who seemed un-American. Judge Landis was one of the 30 persons to whom bonds were pinned on May day, in 1919, and during the 1911 black hand trials he received many death threats. He insisted on sitting through the trials.

Judge Landis first became nationally famous when he fired the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana $25,000,000, which decision later was reversed by a higher court.

In the court room the judge always wore a black robe, not only because of his flowing white hair but because of his keen wit. He once barred "wrist watched lawyers" and was drastic in his action against court room loafers or "courtroom lizards," as he called them.

He died gratified.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—President John A. Hyslop of the National League expected gratification today when informed that Judge Landis had resigned from the bench to devote his entire time to the technical control of professional baseball.

"The major and minor leagues and the baseball public at large are to be congratulated," he said. "It means everything for the sport."

"I have always felt that when Judge Landis fully realized the mass of detail and the varying technical and contractual matters which must come to him for final decision, he would have to decide to give up either the position of baseball commissioner or the federal bench. The work incident to both positions is absolutely beyond the powers of any one man. Of course, I need not say that I am extremely gratified that Judge Landis saw his way clear to devote his entire attention to baseball."

Under the terms of his contract, signed in 1920, Judge Landis was to receive the same remuneration as in the past. His contract, signed for a period of seven years, called for an annual salary of $50,000, with a deduction equivalent to his salary as a judge.

Under this agreement Judge Landis has been receiving approximately $42,500 from the baseball leagues.

Commission Finishes Work

$5 against expenditures last year of $4,241,401.70.

The tendency in national, state and city government, this year is toward a decrease in the budgets but this is impossible in Lowell owing to an increase in the debt and interest charges of $174,336.98 and larger payrolls in the school, fire, police and some of the municipal departments.

The fire department asked for $82,500 for new equipment which we could not allow owing to the fact that the amount requested for this department was more than double the money expended four years ago.

The large reduction in the estimates of the hospital was mainly because this department, instead of returning a balance to the general treasury at the end of last year, expended several thousands of dollars for supplies in December.

We recommend that different arrangements be made for caring for the horses of the building department as the cost, in wages alone, is $4310 for six horses.

We have reduced the estimates of the school department over $100,000, but call attention to the fact that the amount allowed is $1,127,500 more than the cost of this department in 1917.

We recommend that the appropriation for the water department be $350,000 from its revenue and that the additional amount of $17,500 "by ordinance" be not allowed.

We believe that owing to the lower cost of supplies and increased efficiency in management under the new charter, that each department can live within the appropriation allowed and we trust that they will strive to do so, knowing as they must, that the city of the inferiority of our citizens is for a more economical administration of the city's affairs.

Respectfully,

ROYAL K. LENTHER, ALBERT BERGERSON.

The Budget and Auditing Commission. The mayor said today that he did not care to give out any detailed statement of the reductions made by the commission in the different departments, inasmuch as he had not had any opportunity to go over the figures. He thought he would finish his work on the budget some time next week and then it would be ready for presentation to the council.

The council does not meet again in regular session until Thursday night, March 2, but in all probability a special meeting will be called for consideration of the budget.

HANGS WATCH ON POST, SLEEPS IN SNOWDRIFT

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—John Bannon, white-haired actor, has a watch on which the hands and figures stand out clearly even in the darkness, but it's a 100 to 1 shot that the next time he hangs his glowing timepiece on a gatepost preparatory to going to bed in a snow drift, he will turn its face to the post.

Failure to take this little precaution led him into magistrate's court yesterday on a charge of intoxication.

The glowing timepiece attracted Patrolman Gardner's attention as he was pacing through the zero weather in West 47th street yesterday morning.

Investigating, he found Bannon's but on the twin post and on of aristocratic show sat neatly side near the gate. Then he found Bannon asleep in the snow, pillow his head on a muffler and covered with his overcoat.

Bannon pleaded guilty, still protesting, however, against having his slumber disturbed. He drew a suspended sentence.

EXPECT TO AVOID CLASH ON ULSTER BORDER

LONDON, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The joint Ulster commission may begin to function over the week-end. It is unofficially stated, thus giving a fair prospect for prevention of the dreaded clash between the rival forces lined up along the southern Ulster border.

Peace seems for the moment again descended over northern Ireland, the release of the remaining kidnapped Unionists announced yesterday easing the tension. Nevertheless, both sides still hold prisoners, and it is understood the south is determined not to release the special constables captured at Clones until the Monaghan football players are freed by the Ulster authorities. Resumption of the British evacuation has not been officially declared, but a number of troops left Dublin yesterday, others left Limerick, and some are at Cork stations ready for embarkation.

Regarding reference to chairman-ship of the boundary adjustment commission provided under the treaty by J. Auston Chamberlain in the house of Commons yesterday, the Times says the government is in search of a neutral whose impartiality and judgment shall be universally recognized.

Thrilling Rescue of 14 Trapped by Fire

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Policemen and firemen early today made thrilling rescues of 14 persons trapped by a fire in a three-story house in the Cypress Hills section of Brooklyn. Three women were dropped 16 feet from second story windows in the arms of patrolmen. Seven members of one family and a collie dog were carried down ladders. The others were carried through smoke-filled hallways to the street. Three men jumped from windows and were slightly injured.

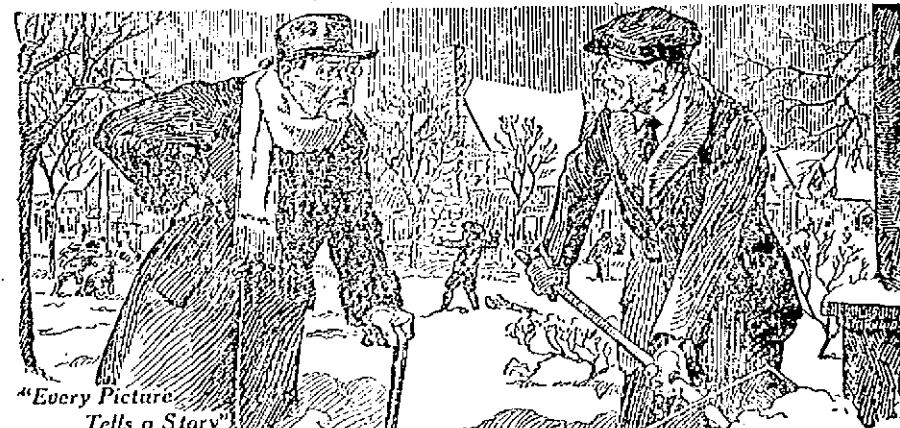

Reorganization of Prohibition Forces

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Reorganization of the national prohibition field forces is expected to be completed soon with a total of 56 federal prohibition directors, Commissioner Haynes announced today. The commissioner said a director would be appointed for the Canal Zone rounding out the total.

Feel Stiff and Achy After Every Cold?

Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you worn-out and utterly miserable? Do you feel old and lame, stiff and rheumatic? Does your back ache with a dull, unceasing throb, until it seems you just can't stand it any longer?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. They fill the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys must filter off. The kidneys weakened under this rush of new work, become congested and inflamed. It's little wonder, then, that every cold leaves you with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

But don't worry! Simply realize that your kidneys are overworked at such times and need assistance. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Assist them, also, by drinking pure water freely, eating lightly and getting plenty of fresh air and rest. Doan's Kidney Pills have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

After using several boxes of Doan's I was cured of the trouble."

I was so lame and my kidneys acted unnatural. I suffered from terrible pains in the top of my head and it seemed as though the top of my head was coming off. BIG PICTURE DIRECTOR

Former Lowell Boy Directs Productions and Also Writes the Scenarios

How many of the movie fans in this city know that Lowell has produced a real moving picture director, one who not only directs productions but writes the scenarios himself? Yet it is true, and what is described as "The biggest and best dramatic picture success of the year," "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" given its premiere at the Criterion theatre, New York City, early this month, was written and directed by this Lowell boy—James Patrick Hogan.

Born in this city a little more than 30 years ago, receiving his early training at St. Patrick's academy for boys, Mr. Hogan entered the picture business in New York about seven years ago. Since that time he has risen in the profession until he has become a director of prominence in the California field of the industry, and is reported to have at one time directed some of Douglas Fairbanks' features. He is the youngest director in the business.

Mr. Hogan plans to visit his home in Lowell in the near future, after he has completed four special pictures with which he is now engaged. When he visits this city he makes his home at 27 Windsor street, with whom he resides, before leaving for larger fields, since early childhood, Mr. Hogan's sister, Miss Mary D. Hogan, also resides with Mrs. Hogan, and a brother, William J. Hogan, lives at 22 Pine street. Relative to Mr. Hogan's new production, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" it is said he conceived the idea for the story when he was a boy in this city. His father took him to a meeting of a local temperance society, where someone rendered the song with illustrated slides, depicting thought, of his home-town, where he first conceived the idea, foremost in his mind.

No doubt all his former chums and associates will be glad to know of his success, and will be waiting to greet him on his impending visit.

the song's meaning. A year later, while working for a Mr. Whitcomb, a milk dealer on Vermont avenue, he attended church with others of all denominations at a little mission chapel and, on Christmas eve, again heard the song, and its pathetic story made a deep impression on his mind, urging him to reproduce that story at some future time on the animated screen. He has come to the realization of his ambition with the

Conroy & Yates, and Arnaud Bros., Will Divide Honors on Next Week's Bill—Sunday Programs

Sunday's show at the B. F. Keith theatre will be right up to the mark of productions on previous Sundays with some of the best features of the current week's bill, supplemented by other acts imported from New York. Among the top features are the Quixey Four, Frank Davis and Adelle Darnell, Doris Duncan and George Yeoman and Lizzie.

The new acts for Sunday are the Melody Duo, Wright & Connaughton, and the Honey Trio.

On Wednesday (Washington's birthday) three shows will be given, beginning respectively at 2, 5 and 8 p. m.

Another week of a double headline show will open on Monday next, when Frank J. Conroy and Bob Yates, with their sister, Adelle Darnell, and Arnaud Brothers will divide the honors. It ought to be a great show, looked at from every angle, for in these two acts are as snappy, novel, unusual headlines as can be procured. Conroy & Yates have only recently hung out their shingles as partners, although for a number of years they were attached to other large theatres, who were of the first calibre. They are now frankly manufacturers of laughs, and they call their turn "Tell Her That." Both the comedian and the dancer are introduced into this skill, and everybody will thoroughly enjoy the exceptional line of offerings this night will present.

The Arnaud Brothers are familiar. That's a fact. They are clowns whose knowledge of the nearly extinct art of pantomime is quite wonderful. Formerly of the big troupe at the New York Hippodrome, where they shone resplendently, they were eagerly sought by vaudeville managers and have been in the city since entering the two-day.

Jarrow, the humorist trickster, who calls his act "Sawing a Lemon in Half," is up in this part of the world. His famous lemon trick is accomplished in specially taking fashion, although he performs a dozen other illusions, which fun act. A unique comedy offering is that of Stephens & Bordeaux. The act is one of bright lines and enjoyable comedy. The Chandon Trio are comedians, who perform in their own selves, while Sam Green and Mildred Myra will give their novel, "Merry Moments." Then there is the beautiful Frances Dougherty, the girl with the Irish smile. It's a stalling good show.

HILTO THEATRE

Mack Sennett's Famous Production, "Molly O," at the Hilto Theatre All Next Week

"Molly O," Mack Sennett's famous production, is coming to the Hilto theatre all next week and guess who will be the leading lady? It is a production that contains no less than four strong dramatic situations, tense enough for the climax of an unusual production, and which will all run a love story as sweet and winsome as anything that has been done for the screen. On the same program for the three first days of this week is Charlie Chaplin's "A Dog's Life," the inimitable Charlie has familiar situations that even in this new masterpiece are new and excellent running mate for "Molly O."

Molly O, daughter in a family which eludes out a precarious existence through cleaning jobs, is done by the mother, starts the ball rolling by pasting her own photograph over a question mark used by a sensational newspaper to indicate that the young woman rumored to be engaged to the very wealthy, handsome and likable Dr. John Spender Bryant. She studies the Spender of the doctor in such a way that later, when she sees him making a call, feels almost as if she knows him, and tries to attract his attention. His smiles at her anxiously.

A neighbor's baby falls ill, and Molly O calls in Dr. Bryant. He gives her a lift in his automobile to his home, and the ride starts a romance for both of them. Molly O's father sees them and roundly upbraids her on the grounds that association with a swell doctor can bring no good to his daughter. He brings up the matter of marriage to his assistant.

The doctor encounters his trouble when Molly O's mother selects the newspaper on which she has pasted her photograph to cover the wash, which goes to the home of the doctor's fiancée. She has also seen the two of them riding together. Molly O and her father home from church and the father indicates that his presence is distasteful to the family. The antagonism only attends to increase the doctor's infatuation for the poor girl, and Molly O promises to attend a big charity ball. A scene ensues in which the fiancée offers back the ring to the doctor.

Molly O seeks a barn for the purpose of changing into her ordinary wear before going home, and while there she is attacked by her father's helper. The doctor comes to her rescue, and the pair are discovered by her father, who discovers that they have been married to each other the night before.

Now don't imagine that this is the end of the story. It is only the beginning of their troubles—and if you want to find out the rest of the masterpiece, you must see "Molly O" at the Hilto. Get your seats early in the week.

In "A Dog's Life" Charlie Chaplin has mounted a new pedestal of fame. It is a three-reel super feature and is booked for only three days.

The Sunday show at the Hilto will have Billie Burke, new Mrs. Florence Zelgfeld, Jr., in "The Misleading Widow," also Carmel Myers in "The Kiss," and four acts of high class vaudeville.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Elaine Hammerstein in "Why Announce Your Marriage?"

The usual excellent program of features will be presented at the Merrimack Square theatre Sunday afternoon and evening. Bryant Washburn in "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" and "The Kiss" will be the featured attractions. Several shorter features will also be shown.

For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Day Manager Nelson has arranged a triple feature bill of more than ordinary merit. Elaine Hammerstein in "Why Announce Your Marriage?" Josephine Earle in "Branded" and Harold Lloyd in "All Aboard" will be the big attractions.

"Why Announce Your Marriage?" is a society comedy based upon the actual experience of one of America's most noted writers. It is one of the most interesting stories in which vicious Elaine Hammerstein has yet appeared. The central character is a very modern young woman, a success in her own right, who is introduced into this skill, and everybody will thoroughly enjoy the exceptional line of offerings this night will present.

The Arnaud Brothers are familiar. That's a fact. They are clowns whose knowledge of the nearly extinct art of pantomime is quite wonderful. Formerly of the big troupe at the New York Hippodrome, where they shone resplendently, they were eagerly sought by vaudeville managers and have been in the city since entering the two-day.

Jarrow, the humorist trickster, who calls his act "Sawing a Lemon in Half," is up in this part of the world. His famous lemon trick is accomplished in specially taking fashion, although he performs a dozen other illusions, which fun act. A unique comedy offering is that of Stephens & Bordeaux. The act is one of bright lines and enjoyable comedy. The Chandon Trio are comedians, who perform in their own selves, while Sam Green and Mildred Myra will give their novel, "Merry Moments." Then there is the beautiful Frances Dougherty, the girl with the Irish smile. It's a stalling good show.

The husband manages to hide but forgets to conceal the end of a still smoking cigar and his hat and stick are discovered. Similar "accidents" occur in his own apartment until the two are driven distracted by the gossip. Still they stand by their guns. At last something happens more sensational than any of the previous incidents and the truth is revealed.

Miss Hammerstein plays the part of the artist's bride, ably supported by Niles Welch as the husband.

Do you believe in circumstantial evidence? Whether you do or not you will be interested in seeing "Branded," the other big feature of the first half of the week, how circumstantial evidence wrecked an innocent woman's life.

Mystery surrounds the sudden death of a beautiful young girl's husband. The real murderer skillfully conceals his crime, and the young girl wastes her years in a prison cell. But a jury higher than any earthly tribunal—conscience and an evening of fun—about the culprit's punishment and absolve the prisoner. The air of mystery is sustained through the last scene, as the absorbing tale adds interest to a thrilling drama.

"All Aboard," starring funny Harold

Lloyd, is the third big feature for Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. Don't miss this if you want to laugh heartily. The Merrimack Square will complete the bill.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday the splendid attractions will be "The Kiss" of the Sea" with Conway Pearce and "Room and Board," starring Constance Binney.

OPERA HOUSE

Marguerite Fields and Her Own Company's Presentation For Next Week in "The County Fair"

The holiday attraction at the Opera House for the coming week by Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company will be a revival of Nell Burgess' famous rural comedy drama, "The County Fair." This announcement will, no doubt, meet with the enthusiastic approval of the theatre folk of Lowell, and it becomes known that Owner Schaeke will not only have the full strength of the Marguerite Fields company, but a stage of excellence, including the great horse-racing scene showing the old favorite—Cold Molasses—nosing out a victory after a neck-and-neck contest with two other contenders.

The County Fair is so well known by the players of this vicinity that little need be said of the story or its worth as a stage offering. The striking success it attained in the past should and unquestionably does assure everyone of the genuine enjoyment in store for all who will flock to the Opera House during the coming week. It's a story of real New England life, with typical country scenes, rural locations, and incidents that are cleanly humorous, tenderly pathetic and entirely wholesome. There is the husking scene, the old-fashioned country kitchen, the country dance, the village band and village music and last but not least, the exciting, exhilarating race track scene in which three Kentucky thoroughbreds run a race at breakneck speed in full view of the audience. It is no race behind the scenes that may be described by one of the onlookers, but a real, genuine horse race that can't help but develop into a thrilling and exciting scene.

The first performance will be given Monday night and judging from the rehearsal it will be perfect. Every one of the cast is familiar with his or her part and a finished performance is assured for the opening night. Matinee performances will be given every afternoon beginning Tuesday.

The advance sale of tickets is unusually large. Better order well in advance. Tel. 261. Box office opens daily from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Anna Layne will play the role of the spinster, Abigail Price; Florence Hill, the orphan girl; Triggs, Miss Fields will be seen in the Sally Green scene; the village belle and Mr. Hollingsworth will be the Joel Bartlett, her big bashful lover. Vincent Dennis will be "Toby," the lucky who rides good old Cold Molasses to victory, and the others will be pleasantly assigned. Remember to order your tickets early.

coming week. Harry Carey in "The Fox," a Universal super-epic, is the picture and those who are best able to judge proclaim it a truly superior photoplay. Alice Lake in "The Infamous Miss Revell" will be the other picture for the first three days of the week. The last three days of the week will be seen House Peters in "The Man from Lost River," and Gladys Walton in "Playing With Fire."

Something quite out of the ordinary is scheduled for the Sunday concert. Prince Napoleon's Kamour, a band of seven people will be the headline act in the list of vaudeville offerings. This act has been featured at several of the Boston theatres and is sure to be a big feature. The picture attraction will be "Don Moore in 'Hold Your Horses'." Nothing better in the line of a Sunday concert has been given at any local theatre in months. Don't miss it.

What is promised as the greatest western photodrama ever made has been produced by Universal with Harry Carey in the starring role. Believing in the independence of the west of today, with its thrilling romance and picturesque realism, Universal decided to make a super-western picture and call it "The Fox." The result of their efforts has been most satisfying, both to the producer and the public alike. Carey himself wrote the story of the picture and it was adapted for the screen by Lucien Hubbard. It will make motion picture history by its dramatic force, its picturesque locale, its intense action and a modern army camp was built to quarter the big outfit engaged. Graphic "shots" of the regulars going into action, with Carey in the lead, and a modern army camp was built to quarter the big outfit engaged. Graphic "shots" of the regulars going into action, with Carey in the lead, and a modern army camp was built to quarter the big outfit engaged.

For the last three days of the week, starting with matinee on Thursday, the big feature will be the latest Goldwyn special, "The Last Days of Pompeii," with House Peters in the lead. A powerful photodrama of conflicting love interests, with its locale, a northern Italian town, is promised along with all of the interesting and entertaining features naturally expected of such surroundings. The story pictures the trials and tribulations of a powerful, patient lumber camp foreman in "standing by" the girl he loves while a black hawk and a millionaire marry her, neglects her and eventually proves his utter unworthiness. Peters gives an exceptionally fine performance of the lumber foreman and Fritz Brunetta is the rich man who cannot see where her true love lies. Allen Forrest is the polished, cultivated villain.

It is not the ordinary flapper that Gladys Walton portrays in her latest picture success, "Playing With Fire," but a girl in the short-skirted age with a melody shop training and a penchant for absorbing "class." A most unusual little figure, it likable one, impersonated only as Miss Walton can do it. She chances to meet a man with "class." The result is distinctly a business blow to the ten-cent stores and the corner grocer and candy store. And the Melody Shop queen becomes addicted to plain hose and elegant slacks in the manner of her dress. It's the story of a girl who, when she meets a man who can't see where her true love lies, is likely to appear at any moment. It's somewhat fanciful, but interesting and entertaining.

The usual comedy and weekly issues help to round out excellent programs.

TAYLOR MURDER CASE

Investigators Await Developments in Promise of Immunity to Sands

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18.—Investigators of the murder of William Desmond Taylor, film director, were waiting today to see if anything would result from the announcement of Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, that Edward E. Sands, missing former butler, secretary to Taylor, would not be prosecuted on an indictment charging that Sands could prove himself innocent of the slaying of Taylor and "untangle this murder mystery."

Woolwine's announcement followed receipt of a letter purporting to have been written by Sands. The writer stated he was in Los Angeles, was not guilty of the murder of Taylor, but could name the murderer and solve the mystery of the slaying. He inquired whether he would be set free in case he surrendered and proved innocence of the slaying.

It is asked that the district attorney publish his reply. Many of the Los Angeles papers and Woolwine made public the letter and the answer, the latter being addressed to "Edward E. Sands, through the public press."

SAYS PURITANS

HARD DRINKERS

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard college, in a letter submitted yesterday to the legislative committee on local affairs, urging that Massachusetts take her share in putting prohibition measures into force declared that "the Puritans were hard drinkers and that their descendants still illustrate the evil consequences." The letter was read at a hearing on a bill petitioned for by the Anti-Saloon league for a state liquor law in conformity with the Volstead act.

"People that know nothing of the Puritans often say that the Puritans were joy killers. The letter said, 'Some of their religious dogmas tended in that direction; but the Puritans were hard drinkers and their descendants still illustrate the evil consequences.'"

More than 500 persons attended the hearing, including members of the Anti-Saloon league, the W. C. T. U., religious societies, and other organizations. Former liquor dealers and former bartenders.

CADILLAC DOING BIG BUSINESS

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 18.—The Cadillac Automobile company received from Detroit early in the week a telegram reading as follows: "Production has been stepped up in the big Cadillac plants here in response to a demand from dealers and distributors for cars in greater quantity than is usual at this time of year. We have nearly 7000 employees working, close to highest total ever employed."

"Orders coming from all sections, some for lots of 100 or more. At New York show we did more business than any other car show in the country. Chicago show results were equally encouraging. The factory is on the biggest production schedule in its history, larger by 20 per cent than ordinarily at this season."

SUGGEST WEDDING GIFTS FOR PRINCESS

LONDON, Feb. 18.—"What wedding present would you like to give to Princess Mary?" was the theme for essays given to a class of 10-year-old girls in a North London school. One child replied: "A fur coat—I would like any wedding gift but I should like a good thing when she sees it. It would be lined with red satin and have her name in gold letters across the center of it."

Another thought a white tea-pot cover would be most appropriate "with the princess' photograph and that of her husband on one side of it and the flag of the United Kingdom on the other side."

TOKYO, Jan. 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Results of the arms conference at Washington have split the thinking element of Japan into two opposing camps, according to the staff correspondent of the Kokusai News Agency. The conservative group views the Washington agreements with uneasiness and feels that Japan has fallen a prey to the designs of the United States and European powers. The progressive group declares the Washington conference has given Japan a golden opportunity to become one of the leaders in uplifting civilization.

Fire Survey to Be Ready Soon

on fire prevention and protection of the Lowell chamber of commerce.

Lowell, Mass., February 17, 1932.

Gentlemen:

Within the near future you will receive copy of a Survey of the City of Lowell made by the national board of fire underwriters in furtherance of the application of the local fire insurance exchange to the board of rating to this city. I may state that the whole of New England is to be rated under this new plan, which will be a complete analysis of the conditions within the fire insurance exchange. Naturally the basis for all insurance rating is upon the general conditions pertaining to fire hazard and protection existing in any city. This report is being made by the experts who draw up the same and may take an active interest in urging whatever improvements seem necessary and practicable. To facilitate you in getting the report, I am enclosing a list of the recommendations which appear at the end of the report.

The water department, supplemented by the Lowell fire department, is always keeping up the strong points in the favor of Lowell when the question of fire protection has been under consideration. It is a pleasure to know that there have been substantial improvements since the last survey in 1921.

The report states that "The fire department is a fairly efficient force under an experienced chief. It does not seem out of place to mention on one or two points, and especially on the part of the chief inspector, John S. Caldwell of the New England Insurance exchange, who has received the highest commendation."

You will note the urgent request for a fire station in the Oakland and also observe that the fire department force as it now stands is not fully manned. The important question of the fire alarm system is most emphatically treated and the engineers' recommendation that the fire alarm headquarters be removed to a fire-proof building, especially constructed to reduce as far as possible all liability to interruption of service; and that the system be changed to a manually operated type of modern alarm.

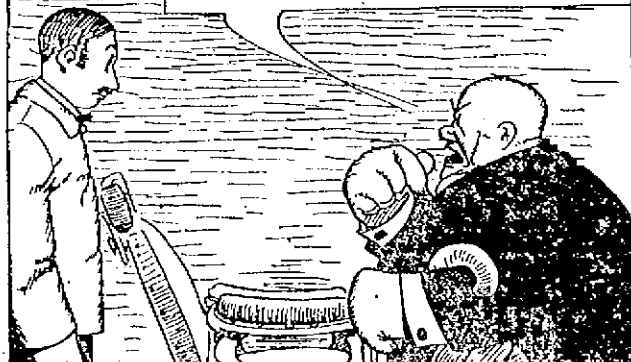

The report states that the electrical ordinances are good, but that the condition of inside wiring disclosed by inspections made incidental to this report indicate a lack of adequate supervision and control over new work, which is generally of an indifferent standard and a poor condition existing in the old work.

Trusting that the above will aid you in studying this analysis of the city of Lowell and that you will give the matter your serious consideration, I beg to remain

Yours very truly,
FREDERICK CHURCH,
Chairman, Committee on Fire Prevention and Protection, Lowell Chamber of Commerce.

Olympic Stars Train in Pershing Stadium

PARIS, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Pershing Stadium was turned over by the city of Paris today to the French committee in charge of the arrangements for the 1924 Olympic games. The Stadium will be used exclusively in the training of the athletes who will compete in the games.

Pershing Stadium was erected for the inter-allied games held in June of 1919. It is declared to be too small, however, for the coming Olympic games and plans are understood to be going forward for the erection in or near Paris of a much larger stadium.

MENTAL TESTS FOR TRAM MOTORMEN

CANDIDATES FOR MOTORMEN'S JOBS UNDERGOING MENTAL TESTS ON DUMMY CAR PLATFORMS AT BERLIN.

By N.E.A. Service
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—You'll have to be O. K. mentally if you want a job as street car conductor in Berlin. Applicants for jobs must pass competitive mental tests and only those with the highest grades are accepted, says a current issue of Popular Science Monthly.

Before prospective motormen are entrusted with cars they must prove their visual and muscular reactions are quicker than those of the ordinary man. The applicants undergo their examinations on dummy platforms, resembling the platforms of cars.

Every conceivable emergency is reproduced, as lightning, electric shocks and accidents. The actions of the motormen in meeting such emergencies and the time it takes them to respond are carefully recorded.

The tests have revealed that the man varies greatly in the interval elapsing between the visual stimulus and muscular response.

Obviously the quicker man is the better motorman and through them the Berlin company has effected a marked lowering in operating costs.

SUIT FOR $25,000,000 PAYMENT OF WAR LOANS

N. Y. Stock Exchange and Sen. McCormick Demands Schiff Estate Defendants in Big Suit

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The money power of this country manifested by the International Investment Bankers declared that the farmers should be made to bear the brunt of the war costs, Benjamin C. Marsh, managing director of the Farmers' National Council, told members of that body today.

"During the past three years," he said, "farmers have lost $20,000,000,000 through the deflation policy which they received for their farm crops and through the foreclosing of mortgages and high freight rates. The International Investment Bankers deflated prices in order that the loans which these big financial interests made to the government out of their scandalous war profits might be doubled in value through shrinking the dollar to one half of its value when they loaned it to the government."

"The profiteers of America jointly obtained $250,000,000 net profit for every American boy who lost his life during the World war."

"The bright spot in our national condition today is the fact that a group of fearless senators and congressmen from agricultural states have thrown down the challenge to the control of our government, agriculture, commerce and credit, by America's privileged monopolies. These senators and congressmen, known as the 'agricultural bloc,' have made a splendid fight for farmers' rights. They have been opposed by the administration. They have not been able to obtain the fundamental legislation which farmers must have, but they are the farmers' only reliance at the national capital. The farmers must stand back of this 'bloc' to strengthen it, increase its membership and through it get prosperity for America's basic industry, agriculture."

URGES COLLEGES TO "SCRAP" COACHES

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A conference between Yale, Harvard and Princeton to consider dismissing college athletes for "scrapping" all college coaches was suggested last night by President Alexander McKelejohn of Amherst college in an address before the Amherst alumni of New York.

President McKelejohn declared coaching systems and sports control at present exercised by college authorities are "becoming an intolerable menace to the college as a place of learning. It is a contest between the undergraduates of two competing colleges," he said. "The games are arranged by outsiders, coached by outsiders, and in a very real and lamentable sense, played by outsiders."

College authorities, President McKelejohn said, are responsible for this condition by taking over control of sports from undergraduates and placing them in the hands of a board.

SKATING RACES TO DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 18.—By an agreement between the International Professional skaters the right to the American professional outdoor speed skating championship title finally was decided on the greatest number of points won in races at Endicott, N. Y., today and Sunday and at a professional indoor skating championship at the same place.

The agreement was signed by Everett McGowan of St. Paul; Arthur Staff and Bobby McLean of Chicago; Edmund Lamy of the Chicago North Branch club of Minneapolis; Ben O'Sickey of Cleveland; Don Baker of New York; Clarence Carmon of Boston and Morris Wood of New York.

MANDAMUS HEARINGS

Justice Jenner of the supreme judicial court has assigned the date of Thursday, Feb. 23, as a time for hearing the arguments on petitions for writs of mandamus to restrain the city council from taking any further action toward the reinstatement of Edmund Welch as superintendent of police.

The hearing previously was set for last Thursday, but was postponed because of the illness of Justice Jenner. On the request of attorneys for both sides, the court has set another definite time for the hearing. It will be called at 3:30 a. m.

WOMAN NOT MURDERED

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 18.—Examination of the frozen body of an unidentified woman, found near Forest Hill park yesterday, revealed that the woman had not been murdered, but the case today still presented mysterious angles, apart from that of identification.

The coroner's physician said the woman had died from tuberculosis. Scratches and bruises on the face and neck probably were caused when she fell on the frozen snow.

National Agreement to Settle Jurisdictional Disputes Reached at Conference

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—A national agreement designated to settle jurisdictional disputes in the building industry in the past was reached by the Associated General Contractors of America, the National Building Trades Employers' association and the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor through the national board of jurisdictional awards at its quarterly meeting just concluded here. It was announced today.

The agreement provides that local building trade councils shall suspend unions and refuse to recognize or support unions, which fail to abide by decisions of the board. It also provides that general contractors and sub-contractors shall incorporate in agreements with union labor a provision for compliance with all decisions of the board and shall refuse employment to members of local unions which do not abide by its decisions. Architects and engineers also are bound under the agreement to insert in all their specifications and contracts a clause providing that the board's decisions shall be followed.

TEX RICKARD QUILTS AS CLUB PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Retirement of George L. (Tex) Rickard from the management of the Madison Square Garden sporting club, was announced last night by the state athletic commission. Rickard was recently indicted for criminal assault on two 15-year-old girls.

John Ringling, circus owner and partner of Rickard in various sporting enterprises, succeeded him as president of the club. Mr. Ringling was elected to a special meeting of the board of directors Thursday night, a few hours after the indictment against Rickard was returned. News of the meeting was not made public until last evening.

Mr. Ringling also was named the lessee of Madison Square Garden and president of the Madison Square Garden corporation, which controls the property. Indicating Mr. Rickard's complete withdrawal from any active interest in the enterprise.

Other officers of the sporting club are: John D. Barker, vice president and treasurer; Richard Fuchs, secretary; Frank E. Coulter, assistant treasurer and general manager; and Frank Flournoy, matchmaker.

NOTHING TO SAY ON REPORTED ENGAGEMENT

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—No statement regarding published reports that she is engaged to marry Max Oser of Zurich, Switzerland, riding master, was forthcoming today from Miss Mathilde McCormick, 16-year-old daughter of Harold P. McCormick and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller. Miss McCormick was said to be awaiting the arrival today from New York of her father.

"There is no statement," Miss Louise Gladys Philbrick, Mr. McCormick's secretary said. "Miss Mathilde has nothing to say until her father arrives. But she hopes that Miss Muriel will come home with her father," she says Miss Muriel will raise old Ned."

Miss Muriel is Miss Mathilde's sister, older by three years.

WOMAN NOT MURDERED

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 18.—Examination of the frozen body of an unidentified woman, found near Forest Hill park yesterday, revealed that the woman had not been murdered, but the case today still presented mysterious angles, apart from that of identification.

The coroner's physician said the woman had died from tuberculosis. Scratches and bruises on the face and neck probably were caused when she fell on the frozen snow.

Loss of Time when Sick means loss of money, as well as physical suffering. Many forms of illness are attributable to the use of few common sense precautions. Don't hurry your meals. Take time to chew your food properly; mastication is the first and an important part of the digestive process. Don't eat when overworked; rest a few minutes; it will pay you. Don't borrow time for work when you are tired. Drink lots of water, and get your full share of exercise.

Don't allow your bowels to become congested, but if this should happen, don't delay taking a dose of "L. F. Alwood's" Laxative when you go to bed. It has been a safe, reliable remedy in hundreds of homes for more than forty years. Large bottle 50 cents—one "L. F. MEDICINE CO., Portland, Maine.

BOBBED HAIR HAT

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—For the girl with bobbed hair, the designer has put this latest hat down on the close cropped head of the model.

The chic little ebouat of navy blue lambswool is made with a smaller head size and a low hung ornament with the girl of the short looks particularly in mind. Short hair has had a very noticeable effect on millinery—say the designers. It has tended to make head sizes smaller and bring ornaments lower.

The pompadour on this clever little hat is interesting in that it does something quite new and different—wears at the numerous ends of its saucy quills a small bulb of saffron wax. The sealing wax on this particular hat is white.

Jane Novak—She's Film Land's "Old-Fashioned Girl"

JANE NOVAK

By JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—I have just received the news that Jane Novak's new salary is $1000 a week.

That is one of the most inconsequential things about Jane Novak. I believe the best story that could be published about Jane Novak is that the breath of scandal has never touched her.

Hollywood and the entire movie industry at this moment needs more stories like the true one of Jane Novak and less of the cock-and-bull stories about star salaries.

In the past year I have talked to several hundred movie actors, actresses, directors and publicity men. Many of them have lived in Hollywood and a few of them have been scandal mongers.

And when the gossip has told me this about that star and that about this star, I have usually asked, "Who in thunder among the movie people is all right?" And in the brief lists in the answers Jane Novak's name has always been mentioned.

Jane Novak entered the movies eight years ago, after having played in a stage stock company with her uncle in St. Louis. She was 17 then.

She could have had sensational roles but refused them. Stardom was sacrificed for roles as leading woman in more wholesome pictures.

Other girls who entered pictures after Jane Novak were skyrocketed to stardom and fame—and many are almost forgotten. Stardom was not won by merit of their work.

Known as "the old-fashioned girl," Miss Novak played opposite Bill Hart, House Peters, Charles Ray, Hobart Bosworth, Tom Moore and Lewis Stone.

Most of her films have been based on outdoor stories—"Kazan," "Isobel," "The Silvera's Inn." Her most recent release is "The Mystery."

Today she has her own company and a contract for five outdoor pictures. "The Belle of Alaska" and "The Star-Velling" have been completed. She is now filming "The Snowshoe Trail," by Madison Marshall and adapted by Marion Fairfax.

Stars and Star Salaries

Most of the stories published about star salaries are true insofar as the amount of salary is concerned—but that doesn't mean anything.

Ask the internal revenue collector of your district how much difference in income a $50,000 increase in salary means to a person getting a salary of six figures. The government gets the greater part of it in income tax.

One reason you are paying high admission prices to the movies is that the producers had a few fat years in which they made so much money they didn't know what to do with it.

Rather than give it to the government as excess-profit tax they paid it out in "million-dollar" salaries.

The ones who received it paid income tax on it. The government didn't lose anything, but the movie people obtained advertising by this means.

The movie producers in their new wealth noted like other new-rich. They wore their dinner rings to breakfast.

Now they would like to reduce admission prices to fill up empty theatres.

The exhibitor pays as much for the rental of films as he used to pay. His can't very well afford to reduce admission prices.

A Few Figures

The gross income of movie distributors in 1921 was $118,924,235. That was an increase of $11,000,000 over 1920.

Admission tax, for stage and screen theatres, amounted to $82,333,932 in 1921, a decrease of more than $4,000,000.

In other words, the exhibitor paid out more for his films and received less at the box office. That, according to official government figures.

MARY PICKFORD WRITES ABOUT NEWEST STYLES

When Mary Pickford returned to the United States from Europe, several weeks ago, she brought with her several trunk loads of the latest and most fashionable clothing.

They came direct from one of the main fashion setting centres of the world—Paris—and were made by Na-dame Jeanne Lanvin, the most celebrated designer of youthful frocks in the world. Mary collaborated with Madame Lanvin in designing the dresses.

Now she is going to tell you about the latest styles, in six stories, she has posed in six of her prettiest garments to illustrate her articles.

This is the first "Mary Pickford's Styles for Girls" article.

BY MARY PICKFORD

The distinction of this Lanvin frock of black chiffon velvet lies in the exquisite crystal embroidered collar and cuffs of cerise tulle.

Narrow red grosgrain ribbon, tied in a bow at the neck and hangs with long ends while the bows are repeated at the cuffs. The red is further carried out in an embroidered motif on the front of the waist and in a vivid hat of red leather.

WHITE SPOTS

White spots on furniture, oilcloth or linoleum can be removed by an application of camphor.

LACE

Lace, if it is to look its levellest, should not be starched. Pressing while it is damp makes it about right. If stiffening is needed, a small quantity of gum arabic is all that is necessary.

COATS

Sport coats for summer wear are built on straight lines. Many of the smartest of them have a single button to fasten them at the throat and are unbelted.

SKIRTS

The skirts of silk frocks which are being shown for mid-summer wear are surprisingly full and some of them reach quite to the ankles. Puffings and flutings of all kinds are being used to exaggerate the effect of width.

SHOULDER LINES

Shoulder lines on gowns designed for evening wear are exceedingly irregular. One of the newest effects is a veiling of chiffon or lace for one shoulder, while the other is left quite without any attempt at sleeve.

They can't do it because of stars' contracts.

The exhibitor pays as much for the rental of films as he used to pay. His can't very well afford to reduce admission prices.

FROCKS FOR MID-SUMMER WEAR

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—There is an air of quaintness about the frocks which are being shown for mid-summer wear. A trifle longer and a bit more full as to skirt, with snug little bodices, they hark back to the period of small waists, high and the like.

The lattice trimming which one finds on some of the newest gowns tends to lighten the effect of old-fashioned distinctness.

This little gown combines black cotton crepe with soft mauve chiffon touched with bits of silver ribbon.

The mauve chiffon, which is visible below the lattice necking at the hem line of the skirt, is a complete petticoat fastened to the dress at the belt.

The petticoat in its most modern version is a slim sheet of cotton material which is really a part of the gown—being fastened with the skirt at the waist line.

The hat worn with this frock, also a choice model, is of lavender tulle heavily washed with lavender tulle.

POTATO DISHES

Sister Mary Suggests Ways to Prepare Them

A potato dish that is particularly good with pork chops for dinner is made according to this rule for stewed potatoes. These potatoes are very quickly prepared and cooked.

STEWED POTATOES

One and one-half teaspoons lard, 1½ teaspoons butter, 2 teaspoons flour, 1 medium sized onion, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 4 cups diced potatoes, boiling water, parsley.

Put lard and butter in kettle. When melted stir in flour. Add onion cut in thin slices. Then add the diced potatoes and just enough boiling water to prevent burning.

Do not add enough water to cover potatoes. Cover closely and cook 20 minutes. The water should be nearly all cooked away and the potatoes tender, but not mushy. Serve in a hot dish and sprinkle with minced parsley.

Another way to prepare potatoes that is rather unusual and very good is to make potato croquettes. The potatoes should be boiled with the skins on. This preserves the mineral salts which lie so close under the skin.

POTATO CROQUETTES

Four or 5 medium sized potatoes, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, milk, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, egg, bread crumbs.

Put potatoes on to boil in cold water. Boil 45 to 60 minutes. Drain and shake over fire till perfectly dry. Peel. Put through a ricer or mash with yolk, butter, season with salt, pepper and butter. Beat in milk and parsley.

Use just enough milk to make moist enough to handle. Let cool slightly. Mold in small balls, roll in crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with two tablespoons milk, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat to a golden brown.

Drain and serve. As the mixture is cooked, the frying fat should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 40 seconds.

Potato ribbons are very good with fish.

POTATO RIBBONS

Peel potatoes. Let stand in ice water for half an hour. Dry between towels and cut a thick slicing round and round the potato. Cut this in six-inch lengths and tie in a loose knot. Throw in deep hot fat and fry a golden brown. Drain, sprinkle with salt and serve.

LOVE OR MONEY?

Alma Eleanor Berlin, 21, Worcester, Mass., will receive $60,000 if she remains single and lives with the mother of Charles A. Hamilton, Chicago, her sweetheart. That, in accordance with the will of Hamilton who asked her to accept the legacy on his death-bed.

THIS MAY BE HER LAST TIME IN PRINT

The above picture is of Mrs. L. M. Fine of Chicago.

Ever see it before? Whether you did or not, take a good look now—for this is the last time it's to be printed—may be!

At least Mrs. Fine's husband hopes so.

Why? Well, just because—When Mrs. Fine was little she was pretty. As she grew she became beautiful. Photographers delighted in snapping her and her face soon became familiar in many ads.

Then she was married.

Friend husband found her staring him in the face from calendars, soap wrappers, street car ads and billboards.

Now he's pestered. "Never want to see it again," he declares.

"Well, the world I never got a dime out of it. I support my own wife."

So glance at the "ad girl" before she ceases to appear.

Slicing Cake

Since the fresh loaf cake from the middle first and then push the two pieces back together. This will keep it fresh longer than if the pieces are cut from the end.

Baby's Booties

If baby insists upon pulling the ties out of her booties, tack them securely to the back of the booties and your trouble will be over.

Time Saver

When canning time comes, instead of spending the minutes which it takes to make a spice bag, simply put the spices in your coffee ball and put the coffee ball in the pickling brine. The result will be the same as if a spice bag had been made.

For Dancing

Powdered borax will serve in place of wax when a floor is to be used for dancing and wax is not available. It sweeps up quite easily afterward.

Feeding Hint

When you have no sweet handy and need a little for puddings, chop some fresh dripping and use it in place of sugar. It will answer quite as well.

Black Lace

To clean black lace, scald some bran with boiling water and dip the lace up and down in this. When warm, squeeze the water out and pull out the edges. Press between muslin in a blanket to avoid glazing.

Add Baking Powder

Add a quarter of a teaspoon of baking powder to the mashed potatoes while you are beating them and they will be much lighter and fluffier than otherwise.

Hats

Some of the most interesting of the new line are of satin and covered quite completely with an all-over design of fancy braid.

Hats

Very large, soft-brimmed hats are being shown for summer. They are invariably ornamented heavily with flowers.

Clean It Often

Keep a small stiff brush on hand for cleaning the under work of the sewing machine. It is important that this part of the machine be very clean if it is to run well and going over it with a brush will not injure any of the mechanism.

WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it for a week and I was able to get up and do my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicine."

Mrs. Emma Cuyler, 706 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

Girl Who Made Part Famous in Films Tells What "The Flapper" Is

But "the flapper" herself—what does she think of the "flapper?"

Glady's Walton, screen actress, who has become nationally known as "America's greatest flapper," has had to be a "flapper" so often on the screen that she ought to know. So I asked her.

"A 'flapper' says she, 'is merely a product of the time. There's nothing particularly mysterious about her. She's merely misunderstood by the old-timers who have been unable to readjust their minds. She is a type of adolescent development and, don't worry, she'll come out all right.'

"The theory that she is brainless and the last word in insipidity is belied by the very attention she is attracting. Certainly she must be talented in her 'flapperism' or she wouldn't be so prominent at it. A few years ago we heard of 'old maidens' and we are always being told to look back to grandma's time to recall the 'shy and blushing maid.'

"They were typical of their times—and the 'flapper' is no different. She is misunderstood and, hence, misrepresented."

And there you have it!

Bird Hats Popular

Feathered birds are feathered and have saucy, shiny little black beaks and eyes.

The combining of royal blue with black is something new in the color world and exceedingly effective. One finds the combination on the clearest of this season's hats and gowns.

The hat is faced with sage straw, which has the advantage of being light of weight as well as beautiful to look upon.

MR. G. ERNEST PORTECK GOES TO AKRON, O.

Mr. G. Ernest Porteck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Porteck, of 208 Pleasant street, left Lowell, today for Akron, O., to fill a responsible position with the Firestone Tire company. He was in the service of this company for two years prior to September of 1920 when he entered the employ of the United States Cartridge company in this city. He has been prominently connected with the Radiator Sales Division of this company for which he held many district offices. A Harvard graduate, class of 1917, Mr. Porteck first intended to follow the profession of teaching, but finding that there is no money in the profession, he entered other lines in which he has shown marked ability and resources. He leaves many friends in Lowell who wish him unlimited success in his new field.

BETTER CAR SERVICE FOR BILLERICA

BillERICA citizens have won another campaign for better car service on the Eastern lines.

Beginning tomorrow, commuters of BillERICA and vicinity will have half-hourly car service on Sundays, beginning at 7:30 a. m. and continuing until 5 p. m. The present service is hourly, and BillERICA citizens have long wanted better accommodations, particularly church-goers.

The decision of the company to give the citizens of BillERICA "daily transportation" service on the Sabbath from now on, was responsible for a letter of congratulation sent today by a happy BillERICA citizen to the headquarters of the railway on Prescott street.

South Lowell commuters will have a 15-minute car down that way for the first time, beginning tomorrow night. The last night car on Sunday evenings now goes at 10:45 p. m. A later car has long been wanted by residents of the south part of the city.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

Neurotics

Oh, the psycho-analytic folk are queer
And the Freudians are even queerer yet,
For they lay a man's ambition to some hectic nerve condition
Or to some peculiar "complex" he has met.
They would say that Chris Columbus had a bug
Which was very like a complex in its shape,
That he sailed across the ocean through a strange subconscious not
That he had an inhibition to escape!

To the Freudian it's very clear and plain
That the Puritans arrived at Plymouth Rock
Not because religious freedom was the beacon bright to lean
But because their pet neurosis had a shock!
It was just the same with all the pioneers
As a Freudian will brilliantly disclose,
It was merely their complexes which led folk of both the sexes
To the work by which a nation lives and grows!

All inventors are neurotics, nothing more.
And the heroes we're accustomed to admire,
And the poets and the dreamers and the builders and the schemers
Are just suffering from long-suppressed desire!
Well, it may be that the Freudians are right
In this psychologic dope that they have hatched—
If it's true that all ambition is a troubled nerve-condition
Heaven! send us nervous wrecks to lead the world!

Urban and Suburban League

In The Sun of five years ago, I find that about this time the baseball fans were arranging a schedule for the Urban and Suburban league as shown by the following program:

"Aside from determining the number of members and arranging the schedule for the coming season, the Urban and Suburban league has nothing to do with the game of baseball and play ball, for at last night's meeting in the citizens' committee room all preliminaries were carefully attended to and minor arrangements made for turkey and Frankfort lottery sometimes for a few others and ticket whose numbers come near the winning lottery numbers draw prizes. The tickets were sold at a dollar each and a big business was done by the citizens of the city as they made a business of buying tickets throughout the city. Big prizes were won in this way most of the people who played came home winning and some of them followed by a crowd of poverty so that their families ex-

The permanent officers for the year were then elected as follows: President, James Hearn; secretary, Daniel J. Manning; treasurer, Israel H. Sternberg. All three officers have had more or less experience with the baseball business, and will do their utmost to make the league a pleasure for its patrons. This constitution limits the number of out-of-town players engaged and provides for the signing of players by contract, thus doing away with the swamping habit of players."

There were a great many rooms in the block and half a dozen of them were used by the directors in the policy game. The police became aware of the methods of admission and in order to trap those who came in later, Inspector Donaldson was appointed to wait on the door, which was opened, as the members called. He stood in the darkness and asked the member if he had his slip and on being answered in the affirmative, the member was allowed to enter. In this way 11 of the gamblers were ushered into the quarters, which were now in charge of the police. The officers, however, remained in the back room and were admitted by Inspector Donaldson, had no inkling of what was on until the officers concealed in the corridors

SCHOOL HYGIENE Dr. Finnegan Confers With Physicians and Nurses

The second conference with school physicians and nurses was held late yesterday by Dr. Francis A. Finnegan, director of school hygiene. Reassignment to schools was announced and rules governing the reporting of illness among pupils were discussed.

It is Dr. Finnegan's desire to have immediate reports sent to him when a child is absent from school for a period of three days by reason of illness or any other cause unknown to the teacher. Before children who have been absent because of sickness with a communicable disease may return to school, the director must make an examination and issue a certificate of health.

After the new department is more fully developed, special classes for the care of anaemic and under-nourished children will be established and some means taken whereby lunches may be served to them. Dr. Finnegan already has found evidences of listlessness among pupils in some schools and holds that it is caused by lack of nourishing food at breakfast. Even though it is but a glass of milk, lunches of some sort will be provided.

Profiteering Spreads Even Into Sudan

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Lord Dewart at a meeting of the Egyptian mission here said that profiteering had spread everywhere since the war, even into the Sudan, where it had extended to the price of wives. R. R. Clerks Protest Working Schedules

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 18.—New working schedules for railroad clerks were put into effect by the N.Y., N.H. & H.R.R., today but after their announcement the local committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks issued a statement that none of the changes had been agreed to. The latter claimed that the action of the railroad management was an arbitrary one as readjustments of hours were still in dispute. The New Haven road, by its action, abolishes sick leave, Saturday half holidays, pay for holidays and vacations with pay.

To Revive Patents Treaty With Germany

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The senate foreign relations committee had before it today a message from President Harding asking the senate's advice on the question of reviving the patents treaty with Germany which automatically lapsed with the declaration of a state of war in 1917. Revival of the treaty would automatically restore its provisions for reciprocity in the matter of protection of patents between the two countries. Officials generally held the view that it would have no immediate effect on German patents now held by this country.

The stocks in the shoe store of A. Siciliano, owner of the building, valued at about $20,000 and in the haberdashery store of Harry McGurk, valued at about $10,000, represent almost a total loss. Both are covered by insurance. The quarters of the North Adams Girls' club on the second floor were damaged by smoke and water. The damage to the building itself was not extensive.

CONGRESS EXCITED OVER THE BONUS FIGHT NOW NEARING SETTLEMENT

Treaties Up for Discussion in Senate—Woman Held Up by Another Woman—Conference on Amateur Radio Matters—Ex-Senator Sutherland's Surprise—Other Matters

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—The question of a bonus is second in interest only to the ratification of the treaties. Up to a few days ago practically all the letters and telegrams on the subject received by congressmen urged a substantial bonus but this week protests have poured in from persons and organizations who believe the additional taxation should not be put on the people of the country. How the members will regard this new phase is hard to predict, but the matter may not go through as quickly or as easily as had been anticipated although the chances are that a bonus bill will pass this session. Chairman Green of the subcommittee having in charge the form of the proposed bonus, said today in answer to inquiries by your correspondent, that considerable misunderstanding apparently exists as to the workings of the proposed measure. Many persons think a soldier need not decide at first on the specific form he will accept, but that if he changes his mind after having made a selection from the proposed fivefold plan, he can change to another form. But Chairman Green says the proposed bill won't permit swapping horses and that after a man has once fixed on the form he will take he cannot change to another. That is, if a soldier decides he will take his benefit under the farm loan plan, and tries it out for a few weeks, he cannot change and try out another plan, not even the cash bonus. He must stick to his first choice, but, added Mr. Green, a man will be given ample time and opportunity to make a choice. After that he must continue in the line of his original selection.

Gov. Lake and His Chum
One of the recent visitors to Washington was Governor Lake of Connecticut, who, as a governor, has the floor privileges of senate and house. He was sitting in the private lobby of the house chatting with a couple of Connecticut members of congress when Congressman Prothingham of Massachusetts came through the door. It was hard to tell which of the two was more surprised or more pleased. It's years since Lake and Prothingham have met, but back in college days Lake was halfback on the football team and Prothingham was his quarterback. While they were talking over old times, in came Congressman Nick Longworth, who married Alice Roosevelt and he, too, was of the same Harvard class.

Woman Held Up Woman
A few evenings ago, some one was reading from a New York paper, an account of a woman in that city being held up by another woman whom she met on the street and demanding she surrender the dress she was wearing. Woman No. 1, claiming it as her own, and that it had been stolen. "That reminds me," said the reader, "of a little incident I once witnessed here in Washington at a card party where the prizes ran short. It was several years ago, and the host was not St. whose wife did not play cards, but was present and circulating among the guests. When the time came for distribution of prizes the colonel found to his dismay that he had miscounted and was one prize short. Rushing upstairs to his wife's room, he seized a very beautiful silver enameled comb from Mrs. S's dressing table, and rushing back presented it to the last lady to whom a prize should be given. The lady smiled and exclaimed 'what a beauty!' as she placed it in her hair. A moment later the colonel's wife walked into that corner of the room, pointing an accusing finger at the guest—'that is my comb—give it back,' she demanded—the bewildered guest complied—the colonel tried lamely to explain and guests made a hasty departure as they noticed their smiles and left the colonel to his fate."

Conference Treaties
One by one former republican leaders and democratic leaders are coming out in favor of the conference treaties and it looks as if opposition would be limited to a very small number of senators and that the opposition would not be of a partisan nature.

Woman Suffrage Statue
The woman suffrage statue placed in the crypt of the capital by enthusiastic suffrage workers has again "moved on." This time it has merely taken up a new stand in the crypt and instead of standing directly under the dome of the capitol, and thus obstructing the longest corridor in the world, as the crypt corridor is claimed to be, the statue now stands a little to the back of the center in the same group of great granite pillars, which afford a fine background to the huge block of marble from which rise the figures of three pioneers in the woman suffrage movement. Much complaint was registered by persons frequently passing through the crypt and from tourists, upon seeing in their passage to and from one end of the building to the other, while tourists complained because the long vista of which they had read and heard so much was obstructed by a huge statue, which many of them failed to admire.

Senator Sutherland's Surprise
Former Senator Sutherland of Utah

Villa Would Lead Men Against Rebels

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Francisco Villa, former bandit chief, has asked official permission to lead his men against Gen. Rosendo Hernandez, who was reported several days ago as in rebellion in the state of Chihuahua. Back in 1914 Hernandez was Villa's trusted aide but he went over to Carranza when Villa and the latter split. Villa now sees a chance to pay off the old score. "There is no reason for the alarm of the United States authorities over threats of rebellion along the frontier, according to Acting Secretary of War Serrano. He said there are no rebels of importance close to the boundary, and the 'few desperadoes in Chihuahua do not dare attack a single federal military unit.'"

Woman's Fire Company Organized

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 18.—The first woman's fire company in Delaware has been organized at Holloway Terrace with 10 charter members. It is an auxiliary of the men's volunteer company and was organized as a protection in case of fire when the men are away at work. The women said they expected to assume all of a fireman's duties, from scaling a ladder to handling a line of hose.

$500,000 For Wilson Foundation

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—More than $500,000, half the amount which will make up the fund, has been subscribed to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, it was announced today by Franklin D. RECEIPTS ARE SLACKENING UP

Big Shrinkage of Cotton Receipts in Lowell and Other N. E. Cities

Southern Textile Mills Reported to be Running Day and Night

Cotton receipts in Lowell are slackening up. Textile mill surveys of the movement of cotton in the various manufacturing centers in New England, show that there has been a tremendous shrinkage of the movement of cotton into Lowell and other New England cities since Jan. 1. The figures show Lowell to have received very far from its usual average amount. Compared with last year's movement, which up to the end of the twelfth month was fair considering mill operating conditions, the 1922 shipments to date appear very small and rather surprising to watchers for signs of busier times in the local textile mills.

Some students of the textile trade familiar with the cotton and other raw goods markets, say the really surprising shrinkage in receipts in January would indicate a long continued curtailment of operations in numerous cotton textile mills.

The receipts of the five principal cotton consuming centers of the New England territory, including Lowell, show that a healthy movement of cotton began in each of the five "centers" last November and continued through December, but "petered out" last month, when only 79,933 bales were received.

This number is less than two-thirds the receipts of December and scarcely more than one-half the November receipts. New Bedford received 28,758 bales last month and Fall River 35,000, while Lowell is credited with receiving but 9,791 bales. Manchester 2,226 and Lawrence 3,881.

The figures last year for Lowell, during the same month, were 12,532 bales. Two years ago the figures were 30,783 bales.

A summary of the six months' totals of cotton received by Lowell mills up to the present time shows 36,531 bales, compared with 58,933 last year and 123,666 before the year before that. Southern textile mills are now reported to be running day and night in some instances, the managers believing that by flooding the markets with goods, prices can be lowered and a real demand created.

One of the largest gingham manufacturers in the country, the Ames Manufacturing Co. of Manchester, N. H., through its treasurer, has sent a letter to the National Textile Association, in which he counsels full production as a means for lower prices. This letter has caused considerable discussion in mill circles.

The southern mill reports show vastly improved conditions in most sections this month. Many manufacturers are seeking to lower their costs through night operations. Help is abundant and willing to work at night, the mill men say, and the temptation to adopt night schedules has been strong.

Most cotton manufacturers of long experience do not favor night running, either as a means of cutting costs or for other purposes, claiming that the advantage of seconds is increased and the day is hastened when a surplus of product will become a market factor. Reports that the larger southern operations are prompted by certain handicaps in New England mills at this time and the desire to force further competition on the northern mills, are given much credence in textile circles.

It is now in Washington, but is an frequent visitor to the capitol, where, of course, he has the privilege of entering the senate at will and chatting with his former colleagues. Soon after he retired from congress Sutherland of West Virginia, was elected to the senate. This week when the roll was being called Sutherland of Utah dropped into the chamber just in time to hear the clerk cry "Mr. Sutherland"—and from force of habit turned quickly and was on the point of shouting back "present," when a bright smile on the face of the senator who he was talking, saved the day, and Sutherland closed his lips just in time.

Holding Their Heads High

The Connecticut congressional delegation is holding its head high these days, all because President Harding said at the Lincoln day banquet that he "craved a return to the intelligent convention as a means of electing men to public office." As Connecticut is the only state in the country which did not run amuck and put a primary law into effect before it had been tried out elsewhere as an experiment, the men elected under the Connecticut convention system now feel that they are on the top rung of the ladder, and they said a fervent Amen away down in their hearts that night, even if they did not interrupt President Harding by shouting it across the banquet table.

Conference on Radio Matters

On the 27th of this month Secretary Hoover will call together a conference for consideration of how to deal with the radio system, especially how to deal with amateur interference of commercial and government messages. Congressman White of Maine has been asked to attend and advise, as he is something of a radio expert and a member of the Merchant Marine committee which has radio measures under consideration. It is said the amateur radio plays havoc with business and government work, and how to meet the situation without depriving amateurs of privileges the government wants them to enjoy if it can be done without detriment to business, is one of the big questions the conference will consider. IRISH ARMY OFFICERS HELD FOR TRIAL

RELFEST, Feb. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Seamus Monaghan, local commandant at Newry of the Irish republican army, who with two other officers, Patrick and Michael Murphy, was arrested by special constables at Kilkenny, County Down, last Wednesday, was arraigned today at the court house in Newry, with his two fellow prisoners.

All of them were remanded. Commandant Monaghan protested against being kept in custody, saying the true reason for the British government and the republican army was not being kept.

John McDowell and Richard Doran, who were arrested by other special constables about the same time that Monaghan and the two Murphys were apprehended, the arrest taking place near the Silent Valley reservoir, the source of Belfast's water supply, near Kilkenny, were set free today, no evidence being found against them.

John Duffin, aged 33, who was shot by a group of men, saying the true reason for the British government and the republican army was not being kept, was held in a hospital here today.

At Limerick last evening, Police Constable Loughlin McDermott, who was shot and killed by a party of unidentified men, a constable who was with him, escaped injury.

NO CHANGE IN BARBERS' STRIKE

The barbers' strike is still on, but Monday morning may bring two or three more so-called "outlaw" shops back into the union fold, the new weekly working members of the Journeymen Barbers' union and their allies, including Organizer Leon Worthall of Indianapolis, know what is on the books.

Nearly 60 union barbers attended last night's rally of the barbers and their friends in Times and Labor hall on Central street. Mr. Worthall, chief speaker at the meeting, which had not been advertised far in advance, declared that he was satisfied with the methods adopted by the union barbers that they were waging a fight for life that was worthy of the support of every union organization everywhere, and that the wages paid before the strike were actually lower than they are now.
